NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

March 31, 2002
(unaudited)

1. FORMATION OF COMPANY

Wentworth I, Inc. (the "Company") was incorporated in the state of Delaware on March 6, 2001. It intends to serve as a vehicle to effect a business combination with a target business (not yet identified) that the Company believes will have significant growth potential. The Company intends to utilize the net proceeds of its initial public offering, equity securities, debt securities, bank and other borrowings or a combination thereof in effecting a business combination.

2. BASIS OF PRESENTATION

The accompanying unaudited condensed financial statements have been prepared in accordance generally accepted accounting principles for interim financial information and the instructions to Form 10-QSB. Accordingly, they do not include all of the information and footnotes required by generally accepted accounting principles for complete financial statements. In the opinion of management, all adjustments (consisting of normal accruals) considered necessary for a fair presentation have been included. Operating results for the three months ended March 31, 2002, are not necessarily indicative of the results that may be expected for the full fiscal year ended December 31, 2002.

3. GOING CONCERN

The Company has no revenue to date and has incurred operating losses of $14,368 since inception and has a working capital deficiency of $32,671. Since inception, the Company has been dependent upon the receipt of capital investment or other financing to fund its continuing activities. The Company has not identified any business combination and therefore, cannot ascertain with any degree of certainty the capital requirements for any particular transaction. In addition, the Company is dependent upon certain related parties to provide continued funding and capital resources. The accompanying financial statements have been presented on the basis of the continuation of the Company as a going concern and do not include any adjustments relating to the recoverability and classification of recorded asset amounts or the amounts and classification of liabilities that might be necessary should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern.

Item 2. Management's Discussion and Analysis or Plan of Operation.

This quarterly report on Form 10-QSB contains forward looking statements. Forward looking statements are statements not based on historical information and that relate to future operations, strategies, financial results or other developments. Forward looking statements are necessarily based upon estimates and assumptions that are inherently subject to significant business, economic and competitive uncertainties and contingencies, many of which are beyond our control and many of which, with respect to future business decisions, are subject to change. These uncertainties and contingencies can affect actual results and could cause actual results to differ materially from those expressed in any forward looking statements made by us or on our behalf. We disclaim any obligation to update forward looking statements.

Plan of Operation

We were organized as a vehicle to seek, investigate and, if such investigation warrants, acquire a target company or business (such acquisition, or other merger or combination with such a target company or business, a "Business Combination") that primarily desires to seek the perceived advantages of a publicly-held corporation. Our principal business objective is to seek long-term growth potential through the acquisition of a business rather than immediate, short-term earnings. Our search is not restricted to any specific business, industry or geographical location.

We do not currently engage in any business activities that provide cash flow. The bulk of our funds were raised in our securities offering (the "Offering") pursuant to our amended registration statement on Form SB-2, as filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on August 8, 2001, and declared effective as of August 21, 2001. In the Offering we sold 50,000 shares of Common Stock at $1.00 per share. The Offering closed on November 29, 2001. The proceeds of the Offering, after the release of $5,000 in permitted expenses, amounted to $45,000 and are currently held in an escrow account in accordance with Rule 419(b) of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Rule 15c2-4 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The costs of identifying, investigating and analyzing Business Combinations will be paid with money in our treasury. We had $829 available to pay these costs at March 31, 2002. Our stockholders will not have the opportunity to participate in any of these decisions. We are sometimes referred to as a "blank check" company because investors will entrust their investment monies to our management without having a chance to analyze the ultimate use to which their money may be put. Although substantially all of the net proceeds of our securities offering are intended to be utilized generally to effect a Business Combination and to pay expenses and fees related thereto, the net proceeds are not otherwise designated for any specific purposes. Investors will have an opportunity to evaluate the specific merits or risks of only the Business Combination in which our management decides to enter.

Our management anticipates that it will likely be able to effect only one Business Combination, due primarily to our limited financing, and the dilution of interest for present and prospective stockholders, which is likely to occur as a result of our management's plan to offer a controlling interest to a target business in order to achieve a tax free reorganization. This lack of diversification should be considered a substantial risk in investing in us, because it will not permit us to offset potential losses from one venture against gains from another.

We have until 18 months following the date of our prospectus, in other words until February 21, 2003, to consummate a Business Combination with another entity. If we fail to consummate such a combination, then we will return the escrowed funds to our investors. Prior to such date, each investor will have an opportunity, pursuant to a reconfirmation offer effected when such a combination is probable (the details of which Business Combination will be set forth in a post-effective amendment to our amended registration statement), to reconfirm their interest in the potential Business Combination or have their funds returned. If we do not consummate a Business Combination by February 21, 2003 and as a result we return funds to our investors, we may decide to (i) initiate a new offering pursuant to Rule 419, (ii) liquidate and dissolve or (iii) pursue another business strategy to be determined at such time.

Selection of a Business

We may seek a business which has recently commenced operations, is a developing company in need of additional funds for expansion into new products or markets, is seeking to develop a new product or service, or is an established business which may be experiencing financial or operating difficulties and is in need of additional capital. In the alternative, a Business Combination may involve the acquisition of, or merger with, a company which does not need substantial additional capital, but which desires to establish a public trading market for its shares or seeks the perceived advantages of a publicly-held corporation.

We do not intend to advertise or promote ourselves to potential target businesses. We intend to retain certain entities to act as "finders" to identify and analyze the merits of potential target businesses. Apart from retaining of finders to locate target companies, we are not presently considering hiring any individual as a consultant. However, we cannot rule out the need for outside consultants in the future. We have not made any decision regarding payment of these consultants, if any are hired. It is likely that any finders will be compensated through a payment consisting solely of our stock. Any compensation paid to a finder will be in accordance and comply with all federal and state securities laws.

Under Rule 419 of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, we cannot acquire a target business unless its fair value represents 80% of our Offering proceeds. In addition, the Colorado Securities Act further requires, among other things, that the proceeds of our Offering not be removed from the escrow account in which they are currently held until 50% of the gross proceeds of the Offering are committed to one or more specific lines of business. To determine the fair market value of a target business, our management may examine the financial statements, including balance sheets and statements of operations, cash flow and stockholders' equity, of any candidate, focusing attention on its assets, liabilities, revenue and net worth taking into account the business' business plan, opportunity for growth and other measures generally used to evaluate businesses. In addition, our management will participate in a personal inspection of any potential target business. If we determine that the financial statements of a proposed target business do not clearly indicate that its fair value represents 80% of the Offering proceeds, we will obtain an opinion from an investment banking firm which is a member of the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. with respect to the satisfaction of such criteria.

Any target business that is selected may be a financially unstable company or an entity in its early stages of development or growth, including entities without established records of sales or earnings. In that event, we will be subject to numerous risks inherent in the business and operations of financially unstable and early stage or potential emerging growth companies. In addition, we may effect a Business Combination with an entity in an industry characterized by a high level of risk, and, although our management will endeavor to evaluate the risks inherent in a particular target business, there can be no assurance that we will properly ascertain or assess all significant risks.

We anticipate that the selection of a Business Combination will be complex. Because of general economic conditions, rapid technological advances being made in some industries and shortages of available capital, our management believes that there are numerous firms seeking even the limited additional capital which we will have and/or the benefits of becoming a publicly traded corporation. Such perceived benefits of becoming a publicly traded corporation may include, among other things, facilitating or improving the terms on which additional equity financing may be obtained, providing liquidity for the principals of a business, creating a means for providing incentive stock options or similar benefits to key employees, providing liquidity (subject to restrictions of applicable statutes) for all stockholders and other benefits. Potentially available Business Combinations may occur in many different industries and at various stages of development, all of which will make the task of comparative investigation and analysis of such business opportunities extremely difficult and complex.

Our officers and directors will analyze or supervise the analysis of potential Business Combinations. Our management intends to concentrate on identifying preliminary prospective Business Combinations which may be brought to its attention through the use of finders. While we have not established definitive criteria for acquisition candidates, we intend to focus on candidates generally satisfying the following criteria:

- o Two years of audited financial statements,
- o Five million dollars in annual revenue,
- o Positive cash flow,
- o Little or no debt,
- o Five million dollars in shareholders' equity and
- o Five or more employees.

In analyzing prospective Business Combinations, our management will also consider such matters as:

- o available technical, financial, and managerial resources,
- o working capital and other financial requirements,
- o history of operations, if any,
- o prospects for the future,
- o nature of present and expected competition,
- o the quality and experience of management services which may be available and the depth of that management,
- o the potential for further research, development, or exploration,

- o specific risk factors not now foreseeable but which then may be anticipated to impact on our proposed activities,
- o the potential for growth or expansion,
- o the potential for profit,
- o the perceived public recognition or acceptance of products or services and
- o name identification and other relevant factors.

As a part of our investigation, our officers and directors will meet personally with management and key personnel, may visit and inspect material facilities, obtain independent analyses or verification of certain information provided, check references of management and key personnel, and take other reasonable investigative measures, to the extent of our limited financial resources and management expertise. It is anticipated that any finders retained will assist in these efforts; however, the ultimate investigation, analysis, decision and negotiation with respect to a potential target will reside with our management and board of directors.

We anticipate that any Business Combination will present certain risks. We may not be able adequately to identify many of these risks prior to selection. Our investors must, therefore, depend on the ability of our management to identify and evaluate these risks. We anticipate that the principals of some of the combinations which will be available to us will be in its development stage in that it has not generated significant revenues from its principal business activity. The risk exists that even after the consummation of such a Business Combination and the related expenditure of our funds, the combined enterprise will still be unable to advance beyond the development stage. Many of the potential Business Combinations may involve new and untested products, processes, or market strategies. We may assume such risks although they may adversely impact on our stockholders because we consider the potential rewards to outweigh them.

At present, the sole finder of Business Combinations for Wentworth I is Keating Investments, LLC, a California limited liability company and a registered broker-dealer. While we will consider other finders, because of, among other factors, our lack of funds, it is unlikely that other finders will contact us. Timothy J. Keating, the son of our President, Kevin R. Keating, is the Managing Member of, and holds approximately a 48% interest in, Keating Investments, LLC. Any finder utilized by us will be a registered broker-dealer, or exempt from such registration in connection with its activities related to us, in accordance with the requirements of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Since the closing of our public offering, we have received numerous business plans and reviewed several companies as potential merger candidates in detail. To date, we have no existing agreement for a Business Combination or other transaction, and our investors may lose some of their investment if we cannot complete such a transaction. We have no arrangement, agreement or understanding with respect to engaging in a merger with, joint venture with or acquisition of, a private or public entity. No assurances can be given that we will successfully identify and evaluate suitable business opportunities or that we will conclude a Business Combination. Management has not identified any particular industry or specific business within an industry for evaluation. We cannot guarantee that we will be able to negotiate a business combination on favorable terms, and there is consequently a risk that funds allocated to the purchase of our shares will not be invested in a company with active business operations.

If we are unable to make such an investment, it is unlikely that our investors will make a substantial return on their investment in us, and their funds could be returned with some loss of capital due to expenses.

In the event our funds are not sufficient to enable us to successfully fund a Business Combination, we may seek additional financing. At this time, we believe that our funds will be sufficient for such purpose and therefore do not expect to issue any additional securities before the consummation of a Business Combination. However, we may issue additional securities, incur debt or procure other types of financing if needed. We have not entered into any agreements, plans or proposals for such financing and at present have no plans to do so. We will not use escrowed funds from our Offering as collateral or security for any loan or debt incurred. Further, the escrowed funds will not be used to pay back any loan or debts incurred by us. If we require additional financing, there is no guarantee that such financing will be available to us or if available that such financing will be on terms acceptable to us.

Acquisition of a Business

In implementing a structure for a particular business acquisition, we may become a party to a merger, consolidation, reorganization, joint venture, or licensing agreement with another corporation or entity. We may alternatively purchase stock or assets of an existing business.

Our management will not actively negotiate or otherwise consent to the purchase of any portion of their common stock as a condition to or in connection with a proposed Business Combination, unless such a purchase is demanded by the principals of the target company as a condition to a merger or acquisition. Our officers and directors have agreed to this restriction which is based on an oral understanding between members of our management. Members of our management are unaware of any circumstances under which such policy, through their own initiative, may be changed.

The structure of the Business Combination will depend on, among other factors:

- o the nature of the target business,
- o our needs and desires and the needs and desires of those persons controlling of the target business,
- o the management of the target business and
- o our relative negotiating strength compared to the strength of the persons controlling the target business.

We will not purchase the assets of any company of which a majority of the outstanding capital stock is beneficially owned by one or more of our officers, directors, promoters or affiliates or associates. Furthermore, we intend to adopt a procedure whereby a special meeting of our stockholders will be called to vote upon a Business Combination with an affiliated entity, and stockholders who also hold securities of such affiliated entity will be required to vote their shares of stock in the same proportion as our publicly held shares are voted.

We have adopted a policy that we will not pay a finder's fee to any member of management for locating a merger or acquisition candidate. No member of management intends to or may seek and negotiate for the payment of finder's fees. In the event there is a finder's fee to be paid to any member of management, it will be paid at the direction of the successor management after a change in management control resulting from a Business Combination. Our policy regarding finder's fees is based on an oral agreement among management. Our management is unaware of any circumstances under which such policy through their own initiative may be changed.

Upon the consummation of a Business Combination, we anticipate that our management will change. Our present management anticipates that the escrowed funds from our securities offering will be used by the post-merger management at its sole discretion. Our Secretary will not receive any remuneration during this period for providing us with office space. This policy is based upon an oral agreement with our management. Our management is unaware of any circumstances under which such policy through its own initiative may be changed.

It is possible that, after we successfully consummate a merger or acquisition with an unaffiliated entity, that entity may desire to employ or retain one or a number of members of our management or our directors for the purposes of providing services to the surviving entity. However, we have adopted a policy whereby the offer of any post-transaction employment to members of management will not be a consideration in our decision to undertake any proposed transaction. Each member of management has agreed to disclose to the Board of Directors any discussions concerning possible employment by any entity that proposes to undertake a transaction with us and further, to abstain from voting on the transaction. Therefore, as a practical matter, if each member of the Board of Directors is offered employment in any form from any prospective merger or acquisition candidate, the proposed transaction will not be approved by the Board of Directors as a result of the inability of the Board to affirmatively approve the transaction. The transaction would then be presented to our shareholders for approval. In all cases, our stockholders will have the opportunity to approve the transaction pursuant to the reconfirmation offer.

Any merger or acquisition can be expected to have a significant dilutive effect on the percentage of shares held by our existing stockholders, including purchasers in our Offering. The target business we consider will, in all probability, have significantly more assets than we do. Therefore, in all likelihood, our management will offer a controlling interest in our company to the owners of the target business. While the actual terms of a transaction to which we may be a party cannot be predicted, we expect that the parties to the business transaction will find it desirable to avoid the creation of a taxable event and thereby structure the acquisition in a so-called "tax-free" reorganization under Sections 368(a)(1) or 351 of the Internal Revenue Code. In order to obtain tax-free treatment under the Internal Revenue Code, the owners of the acquired business may need to own 80% or more of the voting stock of the surviving entity. As a result, our stockholders, including investors in our Offering, would retain 20% or less of the issued and outstanding shares of the surviving entity, which would result in significant dilution in percentage of the entity after the combination and may also result in a reduction in the net tangible book value per share of our investors. In addition, a majority or all of our directors and officers will probably, as part of the terms of the acquisition transaction, resign as directors and officers.

Competition

We will remain an insignificant player among the firms which engage in business combinations. There are many established venture capital and financial concerns which have significantly greater financial and personnel resources and technical expertise than we will. In view of our combined limited financial resources and limited management availability, we will continue to be at a significant competitive disadvantage compared to our competitors. Also, we will be competing with a number of other small, blank check public and shell companies.

Operation of a Business after an Acquisition

Our activities following a Business Combination with a target company will be dependent on the nature of the acquired business, as well as the interest acquired. It may be expected that the business will present various risks to investors. We cannot yet appropriately assess the risks of the business at the present time, even in general terms, as we have not restricted our search for a potential target company to any one particular field of endeavor.
