Value Fund	$13	$40	$69	$151

The purpose of the above table is to assist you in understanding the various costs and expenses that an investor in a Fund will bear directly or indirectly. The information in the table is based upon actual expenses the Funds incurred for the fiscal year or period ended March 31, 1995. The example should not be considered a representation of past or future expenses. Actual expenses may be greater or less than those shown. Because each Fund's Rule 12b-1 Fee is based on a percentage of such Fund's net assets, long-term shareholders may pay more than the economic equivalent of the maximum front-end sales charges permitted by Section 26 of the National Association of Securities Dealers' Rules of Fair Practice.

Each of the Funds Total Fund Operating Expenses are subject to a contractual expense limitation of 1.25% of a Fund's average month-end net assets, as further described in the section "Management." Projected Total Fund Operating Expenses set forth above are the same as the actual Total Fund Operating Expenses for the fiscal year or period ended March 31, 1995. Absent such expense limitations, each of Growth Fund, Midcap Growth Fund and Value Fund would pay .25% of its average month-end net assets in Rule 12b-1 Fees. Further information concerning fees paid by each Fund is found in the Statement of Additional Information.

INVESTMENT PERFORMANCE

From time to time the Funds may advertise performance data including monthly, quarterly, yearly or cumulative total return and average annual total return figures. All such figures are based on historical earnings and performance and are not intended to be indicative of future performance. The investment return on and principal value of an investment in a Fund will fluctuate, so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost.

Total return is the change in value of an investment in a Fund over a given period, assuming reinvestment of any dividends and capital gains. A cumulative total return reflects actual performance over a stated period of time. An average annual total return is a hypothetical rate of return that, if achieved annually, would have produced the same cumulative total return if performance had been constant over the entire period.

For additional information regarding the calculation of such total return figures, see "Investment Performance" in the Statement of Additional Information. Further information about the performance of each Fund is contained in each Funds Annual Report to shareholders which may be obtained without charge from each Fund.

Comparative performance information may be used from time to time in advertising or marketing a Fund's shares, including data on the performance of other mutual funds, indexes or averages of other mutual funds, indexes of related financial assets or data, and other competing investment and deposit products available from or through other financial institutions. The composition of these indexes, averages or products differs from that of the Funds. The comparison of a Fund to an alternative investment should be made with consideration of differences in features and expected performance. A Fund may also note its mention in newspapers, magazines, or other media from time to time. The Funds assume no responsibility for the accuracy of such data. For additional information on the types of indexes, averages and periodicals that might be utilized by the Funds in advertising and sales literature, see the section "Investment Performance" in the Statement of Additional Information.

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVES AND POLICIES

EMERGING GROWTH FUND

The investment objective of Emerging Growth Fund is long-term capital appreciation. The Emerging Growth Fund is designed for investors seeking the opportunity for substantial long-term growth who can accept above average stock market risk and little or no current income. Emerging Growth Fund will pursue its objective by investing primarily in equity securities of small and medium sized companies that are in the early stages of their life cycles and which have demonstrated or have the potential for above average capital growth. Emerging Growth Fund's investment objective is a fundamental policy and may not be changed without shareholder approval. There can be no assurance that Emerging Growth Fund will achieve its investment objective.

Emerging Growth Fund's policy is to invest in equity securities, including convertible securities, of companies that IAI, Emerging Growth Fund's investment adviser and manager, believes are in the early stages of their life cycles and have demonstrated or have the potential to experience rapid growth in earnings and/or revenues ("emerging growth companies"). Under normal market conditions, Emerging Growth Fund will invest at least 65% of the value of its total assets in emerging growth companies that are of small to medium size (market capitalization of $1 billion or less). Emerging growth companies are generally expected to show earnings growth over time that is well above the growth rate of the overall economy and the rate of inflation, and have products, management and market opportunities which are usually necessary to become more widely recognized as growth companies. Emerging Growth Fund may also invest in more established companies that may receive greater market recognition or otherwise offer strong capital appreciation potential due to their relative market position, the strength of their balance sheet, changes in management or other similar opportunities.

Although Emerging Growth Fund's portfolio generally consists primarily of common stocks, Emerging Growth Fund may invest in securities convertible into common stocks, nonconvertible preferred stocks and nonconvertible debt securities.

Emerging Growth Fund may invest in other securities and may employ certain other investment techniques, as described in the section Portfolio Securities and Other Fund Investment Techniques. Please see the Prospectus section Fund Risk Factors and the Statement of Additional Information section Investment Objectives and Policies for a discussion of the risks associated with investing in Emerging Growth Fund.

GROWTH FUND

The investment objective of Growth Fund is long-term capital appreciation. Growth Fund is designed for investors seeking the opportunity for significant long term growth who can accept above average market risk with little or no current income. Growth Fund pursues its objective by investing primarily in equity securities of established companies that are expected to increase earnings at an above average rate. Growth Fund's investment objective is a fundamental policy and may not be changed without shareholder approval. There can be no assurance that Growth Fund will achieve its investment objective.

In general, Growth Fund concentrates on companies that have strong management, leading market positions, strong balance sheets, and a well defined strategy for future growth. In selecting investments for Growth Fund, IAI, Growth Funds investment adviser and manager, utilizes several valuation techniques to determine which stocks offer the best combination of intrinsic value and earnings growth potential. The goal is to have an acceptable balance of risk and reward in the portfolio.

Under normal circumstances, at least 65% of Growth Funds assets will be invested in growth-type securities. Growth Fund may also invest in government securities, investment-grade corporate bonds and debentures, high-grade commercial paper, preferred stocks, certificates of deposit or other securities of U.S. and foreign issuers when IAI perceives an opportunity for capital growth from such securities or so that Growth Fund may receive a return on its idle cash. Growth Fund currently intends to limit its investments in debt securities to securities of U.S. companies, the U.S. Government and foreign governments and governmental entities. When IAI invests in such debt securities, investment income will increase and may constitute a large portion of the return on Growth Fund, and Growth Fund probably will not participate in market advances or declines to the extent that it would if it were fully invested in equity securities. In addition, Growth Fund may increase its cash position on a temporary basis when IAI is unable to locate investment opportunities with desirable risk/reward characteristics or to meet redemption requests or pay Fund expenses.

In considering whether to purchase securities of foreign issuers, IAI considers the political and economic conditions in a country, the prospect for changes in the value of its currency and the liquidity of the investment in that country's securities markets. If appropriate, IAI may purchase foreign securities through dollar-denominated American Depository Receipts ("ADRs") which are issued by domestic banks and publicly traded in the United States. Such investments do not involve the same currency and liquidity risks as securities denominated in foreign currency.

Growth Fund may invest in other securities and may employ certain other investment techniques, as described in the section Portfolio Securities and Other Fund Investment Techniques. Please see the Prospectus section Fund Risk Factors and the Statement of Additional Information section Investment Objectives and Policies for a discussion of the risks associated with investing in Growth Fund.

GROWTH AND INCOME FUND

The primary investment objective of Growth and Income Fund is capital appreciation, with income being its secondary objective. Growth and Income Fund pursues its objectives by investing primarily in equity securities which offer the potential for capital appreciation and secondarily by investing in income-producing equity securities. Growth and Income Funds investment objectives are fundamental policies and may not be changed without shareholder approval. There can be no assurance that Growth and Income Fund will achieve its investment objectives.

Growth and Income Fund invests primarily in common stocks and may invest in securities convertible into common stocks, nonconvertible preferred stocks and nonconvertible debt securities. In selecting investments, Growth and Income Fund considers a number of factors, such as product development and demand, operating ratios, utilization of earnings for expansion, management abilities, analyses of intrinsic values, market action and overall economic and political conditions. Dividend income is a consideration secondary to Growth and Income Fund's primary objective of capital appreciation.

Growth and Income Fund may invest in other securities and may employ certain other investment techniques, as described in the section Portfolio Securities and Other Fund Investment Techniques. Please see the Prospectus section Fund Risk Factors and the Statement of Additional Information section Investment Objectives and Policies for a discussion of the risks associated with investing in Growth and Income Fund.

MIDCAP GROWTH FUND

The investment objective of Midcap Growth Fund is long-term capital appreciation. Midcap Growth Fund is designed for investors seeking the opportunity for substantial long-term growth who can accept above average stock market risk and little or no current income. Midcap Growth Fund will pursue its objective by investing in equity securities of medium-sized U.S. companies that IAI, Midcap Growth Fund's investment adviser and manager, believes have above-average prospects for growth. Midcap Growth Fund's investment objective is a fundamental policy and may not be changed without shareholder approval. There can be no assurance that Midcap Growth Fund will achieve its investment objective.

Midcap Growth Fund will invest at least 65% of the value of its total assets in medium-sized companies that have a market capitalization between $500 million and $5 billion. Under normal market conditions, the weighted average capitalization of Midcap Growth Funds investment portfolio will range from $1 billion to $3 billion. In general, Midcap Growth Fund concentrates on companies that have superior performance records, solid market positions, strong balance sheets and a management team capable of sustaining growth. Investments in such companies are generally considered to be less volatile than less capitalized emerging companies. However, such companies may not generate the dividend income of larger, more capitalized companies. Dividend income, if any, is a consideration incidental to Midcap Growth Fund's objective of capital appreciation.

Midcap Growth Fund invests primarily in common stocks. However, it may invest in securities convertible into common stocks, nonconvertible preferred stocks and nonconvertible debt securities when IAI believes that these securities offer opportunities for capital appreciation. Current income will not be a substantial factor in the selection of securities.

Midcap Growth Fund may invest in other securities and may employ certain other investment techniques, as described in the section Portfolio Securities and Other Fund Investment Techniques. Please see the Prospectus section Fund Risk Factors and the Statement of Additional Information section Investment Objectives and Policies for a discussion of the risks associated with investing in Midcap Growth Fund.

REGIONAL FUND

The investment objective of Regional Fund is capital appreciation. Regional Fund does not expect to provide significant current income to investors. Regional Fund pursues its objective by investing at least 80% of its equity investments in companies which have their headquarters in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska, Montana, North Dakota or South Dakota (the "Eight State Region"). Regional Fund's investment objective is a fundamental policy and may not be changed without shareholder approval. There can be no assurance that Regional Fund will achieve its investment objective.

Regional Fund invests primarily in common stocks but may also invest in securities convertible into common stocks, nonconvertible preferred stocks, and nonconvertible debt securities. In selecting investments for Regional Fund, IAI, Regional Fund's investment adviser and manager, considers a number of factors, such as product development and demand, operating ratios, utilization of earnings for expansion, management abilities, analyses of intrinsic values, market action and overall economic and political conditions. Along with investments in nationally recognized companies, Regional Fund invests in companies which are not as well known because they are newer or have a small capitalization, but which offer the potential for capital appreciation. The prices of stocks of such companies are more volatile than prices of stocks of mature companies. All investments are subject to the market risks inherent in any investment in equity securities.

Regional Fund may invest in other securities and may employ certain other investment techniques, as described in the section Portfolio Securities and Other Fund Investment Techniques. Please see the Prospectus section Fund Risk Factors and the Statement of Additional Information section Investment Objectives and Policies for a discussion of the risks associated with investing in Regional Fund.

VALUE FUND

The investment objective of Value Fund is long-term capital appreciation. Value Fund does not expect to provide significant current income to investors. Value Fund pursues its objective primarily by investing in securities believed by management to be undervalued and which are considered to offer unusual opportunities for capital growth. Value Fund's investment objective is a fundamental policy and may not be changed without shareholder approval. There can be no assurance that Value Fund will achieve its investment objective.

The following are typical, but not exclusive, example of investments that are considered for Value Fund:

1. Equity securities of companies which have been unpopular for some time but where, in the opinion of IAI, Value Fund's investment adviser and manager, recent developments such as those listed below suggest the possibility of improved operating results:

- (a) a sale or termination of an unprofitable part of the company's business;
- (b) a change in the company's management or in management's philosophy;
- (c) a basic change in the industry in which the company operates;
- (d) the introduction of new products; or
- (e) the prospect of an acquisition or merger.

2. Equity securities of companies which have experienced recent market popularity but which, in the opinion of IAI, have temporarily fallen out of favor for reasons that are considered nonrecurring or short-term.

3. Equity securities of companies which appear undervalued in relation to popular securities of other companies in the same industry.

Although there is no formula as to the percentage of assets that may be invested in any one type of security, Value Fund generally is primarily invested in common stocks. Value Fund may also acquire preferred stocks, fixed income securities, and securities convertible into or which carry warrants to purchase common stocks, or other equity interests.

IAI is responsible for the management of Value Fund's portfolio and makes portfolio decisions based on its own research analysis supplemented by research information provided by other sources. The basic orientation of Value Fund's investment policies is such that many of the portfolio securities may not be recommended by most research analysts.

Value Fund may invest in other securities and may employ certain other investment techniques, as described in the section Portfolio Securities and Other Fund Investment Techniques. Please see the Prospectus section Fund Risk Factors and the Statement of Additional Information section Investment Objectives and Policies for a discussion of the risks associated with investing in Value Fund.

PORTFOLIO SECURITIES AND OTHER FUND INVESTMENT TECHNIQUES

REPURCHASE AGREEMENTS

Each Fund may invest in repurchase agreements relating to the securities in which it may invest. In a repurchase agreement, a Fund buys a security at one price and simultaneously agrees to sell it back at a higher price. Delays or losses could result if the other party to the agreement defaults or becomes bankrupt.

BORROWING

Each Fund may borrow from banks for temporary or emergency purposes or through reverse repurchase agreements. If a Fund borrows money, its share price may be subject to greater fluctuation until the borrowing is paid off. If a Fund makes additional investments while borrowings are outstanding, this may be considered a form of leverage.

ILLIQUID SECURITIES

Each Fund may invest up to 15% of its total assets in securities that are considered illiquid because of the absence of a readily available market or due to legal or contractual restrictions. However, certain restricted securities that are not registered for sale to the general public but that can be resold to institutional investors may be considered liquid pursuant to guidelines adopted by the Board of Directors. The institutional trading market is relatively new, and the liquidity of the Fund's investments could be impaired if trading does not develop or declines.

FOREIGN SECURITIES

Each Fund may invest in securities of foreign issuers in accordance with its investment objective and policies. In considering whether to purchase securities of foreign issuers, IAI will consider the political and economic conditions in a country, the prospect for changes in the value of its currency and the liquidity of the investment in that country's securities markets. Each of Growth and Income, Emerging Growth, Midcap Growth, Regional and Value Funds currently intends to limit its investment in foreign securities denominated in foreign currency and not publicly traded in the United States to no more than 10% of the value of its total assets. Growth Fund intends to limit its investment in such securities to no more than 15% of the value of its total assets.

VENTURE CAPITAL

Each Fund may invest in venture capital limited partnerships and funds which, in turn, invest principally in securities of early stage, developing companies. Investments in venture capital limited partnerships and funds present a number of risks not found in investing in established enterprises including the facts that such a partnership's portfolio will be composed almost entirely of early-stage companies which may lack depth of management and sufficient resources, which may be marketing a new product for which there is no established market, and which may be subject to intense competition from larger companies. Any investment in a venture capital fund will lack liquidity, will be difficult to value, and a Fund will not be entitled to participate in the management of the partnership or fund. If for any reason the services of the general partners of a venture capital limited partnership were to become unavailable, such limited partnership could be adversely affected.

In addition to investing in venture capital limited partnerships and funds, a Fund may directly invest in early-stage, developing companies. The risks associated with investing in these securities are substantially similar to the risks set forth above. A Fund will typically purchase equity securities in these early-stage, developing companies; however from time to time, a Fund may purchase non-investment grade debt securities in the form of convertible notes.

LEVERAGED BUYOUTS

Each Fund may invest in leveraged buyout limited partnerships and funds which, in turn, invest in leveraged buyout transactions ("LBOs"). An LBO, generally, is an acquisition of an existing business by a newly formed corporation financed largely with debt assumed by such newly formed corporation to be later repaid with funds generated from the acquired company. Since most LBOs are by nature highly leveraged (typically with debt to equity ratios of approximately 9 to 1), equity investments in LBOs may appreciate substantially in value given only modest growth in the earnings or cash flow of the acquired business. Investments in LBO partnerships and funds, however, present a number of risks. Investments in LBO limited partnerships and funds will normally lack liquidity and may be subject to intense competition from other LBO limited partnerships and funds. Additionally, if the cash flow of the acquired company is insufficient to service the debt assumed in the LBO, the LBO limited partnership or fund could lose all or part of its investment in such acquired company.

ADJUSTING INVESTMENT EXPOSURE

Each Fund can use various techniques to increase or decrease its exposure to changing security prices, interest rates, currency exchange rates, commodity prices, or other factors that affect security values. These techniques include buying and selling options and futures contracts, entering into currency exchange contracts or swap agreements, purchasing indexed securities, and selling securities short. Because some Fund assets may be invested in restricted securities and thus may not be associated with short-term movement in the financial markets, that portion of a Funds assets may not be able to participate in market movements. Each Fund may invest in future contracts in amounts corresponding to its investments in such restricted securities in order to participate fully in market movements.

TEMPORARY DEFENSIVE POSITION

In unusual market conditions, when IAI believes a temporary defensive position is warranted, each Fund may invest without limitation in investment-grade fixed income securities, that is, securities rated within the four highest grades assigned by Moodys Investors Service, Inc. or Standard & Poors Corporation, or money market securities (including repurchase agreements). Money market securities will only be purchased if they have been given one of the two top ratings by a major ratings service or, if unrated, are of comparable quality as determined by IAI. Midcap Growth and Emerging Growth Funds, for temporary defensive purposes, may also invest without limitation in common stocks of larger, more established companies. If a Fund maintains a temporary defensive position, investment income may increase and may constitute a large portion of a Funds return.

PORTFOLIO TURNOVER

The Funds will dispose of securities without regard to the time they have been held when such action appears advisable to management either as a result of securities having reached a price objective, or by reason of developments not foreseen at the time of the investment decision. Since investment changes usually will be made without reference to the length of time a security has been held, a significant number of short-term transactions may result. Accordingly, a Fund's annual portfolio turnover rate cannot be anticipated and may be relatively high.

A higher turnover rate generally results in higher brokerage and other costs for a Fund. The Funds historical portfolio turnover rates are set forth in the section Financial Highlights.

Further information regarding these and other securities and techniques is contained in the Statement of Additional Information.

FOREIGN INVESTMENT RISK FACTORS

Investments in foreign securities involve risks that are different in some respects from investments in securities of U.S. issuers, such as the risk of fluctuations in the value of the currencies in which they are denominated, the risk of adverse political and economic developments and, with respect to certain countries, the possibility of expropriation, nationalization or confiscatory taxation or limitations on the removal of funds or other assets of a Fund. Securities of some foreign companies are less liquid and more volatile than securities of comparable domestic companies. There also may be less publicly available information about foreign issuers than domestic issuers, and foreign issuers generally are not subject to the uniform accounting, auditing and financial reporting standards, practices and requirements applicable to domestic issuers. Because a Fund can invest in securities denominated or quoted in currencies other than the U.S. dollar, changes in foreign currency exchange rates may affect the value of securities in the portfolio. Foreign currency exchange rates are determined by forces of supply and demand in the foreign exchange markets and other economic and financial conditions affecting the world economy. A decline in the value of any particular currency against the U.S. dollar will cause a decline in the U.S. dollar value of a Funds holdings of securities denominated in such currency and, therefore, will cause an overall decline in a Funds net asset value and net investment income and capital gains, if any, to be distributed in U.S. dollars to shareholders by a Fund. Delays may be encountered in settling securities transactions in certain foreign markets, and a Fund will incur costs in converting foreign currencies into U.S. dollars. Custody charges are generally higher for foreign securities.

RISKS OF TRANSACTIONS IN DERIVATIVES

IAI may use futures, options, swap and currency exchange agreements as well as short sales to adjust the risk and return characteristics of each Fund's portfolio of investments. If IAI judges market conditions incorrectly or employs a strategy that does not correlate well with a Fund's investments, use of these techniques could result in a loss, regardless of whether the intent was to reduce risk or increase return. Use of these techniques may increase the volatility of a Fund and may involve a small investment of cash relative to the magnitude of risk assumed. In addition, these techniques could result in a loss if the counterparty to the transaction is unable to perform as promised. Moreover, a liquid secondary market for any futures or options contract may not be available when a futures or options position is sought to be closed. Please refer to the Statement of Additional Information which further describes these risks.

SPECIAL RISK FACTORS ASSOCIATED WITH INVESTING IN EMERGING GROWTH FUND

Investing in emerging growth companies involves greater risk than is customarily associated with investments in larger, more established companies due to the greater business risks of small size, limited markets and financial resources, narrow product lines and the frequent lack of depth of management. The securities of small companies are often traded over-the-counter and may not be traded in volumes typical on a national securities exchange. Consequently, the securities of emerging growth companies may have limited market stability and may be subject to more abrupt or erratic market movements than securities of larger, more established growth companies or the market averages in general. Therefore, shares of Emerging Growth Fund are subject to greater fluctuation in value than shares of a conservative equity fund or of a growth fund which invests entirely in more established growth stocks. Emerging Growth Fund will attempt to reduce the volatility of its share price by diversifying its investments among many companies and different industries.

SPECIAL RISK FACTORS ASSOCIATED WITH INVESTING IN REGIONAL FUND

The objective of capital appreciation along with the policy of concentrating equity investments in the Eight State Region means that the assets of Regional Fund will generally be subject to greater risk than may be involved in investing in securities which do not have appreciation potential or which have more geographic diversity. For example, Regional Funds net asset value could be adversely affected by economic, political, or other developments having an unfavorable impact upon the Eight State Region; moreover, because of geographic limitation, Regional Fund may be less diversified by industry and company than other funds with a similar investment objective and no such geographic limitation.

SPECIAL RISK FACTORS ASSOCIATED WITH INVESTING IN VALUE FUND

In selecting securities judged to be undervalued, IAI will be exercising opinions and judgments which may be contrary to those of the majority of investors. In certain instances, such opinions and judgments will involve the risks of either:

(a) a correct judgment by the majority, in which case losses may be incurred or profits may be limited; or

(b) a long delay before majority recognition of the accuracy of IAI's judgment, in which case capital invested by Value Fund in an individual security or group of securities may be nonproductive for an extended period. Generally, it is expected that if a Value Fund investment is "nonproductive" for more than two to three years, it will be sold.

In many instances, the selection of undervalued securities for purchase by Value Fund may involve limited risk of capital loss because such lack of investor recognition is already reflected in the price of the securities at the time of purchase.

It is anticipated that some of the portfolio securities of Value Fund may not be widely traded, and that Value Fund's position in such securities may be substantial in relation to the market for the securities. Accordingly, it would under certain circumstances be difficult for Value Fund to dispose of such portfolio securities at prevailing market prices in order to meet redemptions. Value Fund may, when management deems it appropriate, maintain a reserve in liquid assets which it considers adequate to meet anticipated redemptions.

INVESTMENT RESTRICTIONS

Each Fund is subject to certain other investment policies and restrictions described in the Statement of Additional Information, some of which are fundamental and may not be changed without the approval of the shareholders of the Fund. Each Fund is a diversified investment company and has a fundamental policy that, with respect to 75% of its total assets, it may not invest more than 5% of its total assets in any one issuer. Each Fund, also as fundamental policies, may not invest more than 25% of its assets in any one industry and may borrow only for temporary or emergency purposes in an amount not exceeding one-third of its total assets. Please refer to the Statement of Additional Information for a further discussion of each Funds investment restrictions.

MANAGEMENT

Under Minnesota law, each Funds Board of Directors is generally responsible for the overall operation and management of such Fund. IAI serves as the investment adviser and manager of the Funds pursuant to written advisory agreements (the "Advisory Agreement"). IAI also furnishes investment advice to other concerns including other investment companies, pension and profit sharing plans, portfolios of foundations, religious, educational and charitable institutions, trusts, municipalities and individuals, having total assets in excess of $14 billion. IAI is an affiliate of Hill Samuel Group ("Hill Samuel"), an international merchant banking and financial services group based in London, England. Hill Samuel, in turn, is owned by TSB Group plc, a publicly-held financial services organization headquartered in London, England. TSB Group plc is one of the largest personal and corporate financial services groups in the United Kingdom and is engaged in a wide range of activities including banking, unit linked life assurance, unit trust management, investment management, credit card and finance house business. The address of IAI is that of the Funds.

Under the Advisory Agreements, IAI provides the Funds with investment advice, statistical and research facilities, and certain equipment and services, including, but not limited to, office space and necessary office facilities, equipment, and the services of required personnel. IAI has the sole authority and responsibility to make and execute investment decisions for each Fund within the framework of each Fund's investment policies, subject to review by the Board of Directors. As compensation for these services, each Fund has agreed to pay a monthly advisory fee at the initial annual rate of .75% of such Funds average month-end net assets, which fee, except for Growth Fund and Growth and Income Fund, declines to .65% of such Funds average month-end net assets as the amount of assets in each Fund grows. Each of Growth Funds and Growth and Income Funds advisory fee declines to .55% of such Funds average month-end net assets. For the fiscal year or period ended March 31, 1995, each Fund paid IAI advisory fees as a percentage of such Funds average month-end net assets as follows: Emerging Growth Fund: .74%; Growth Fund: .75%; Growth and Income Fund: .74%; Midcap Growth Fund: .75%; Regional Fund: .71%; and Value Fund: .75%.

Each Fund is managed by a team of IAI investment professionals which is responsible for making the day-to-day investment decisions for such Fund. The teams managing the Funds are as follows:

Rick Leggott has responsibility for the management of Emerging Growth Fund. Mr. Leggott is a Senior Vice President and has served as an equity portfolio manager of IAI since 1987. Mr. Leggott has managed Emerging Growth Fund since its inception.

John Twele and David McDonald have responsibility for the management of Growth Fund. Mr. Twele has managed Growth Fund since April 1994, when he joined IAI as a Vice President and equity portfolio manager. Before joining IAI, Mr. Twele was a Senior Equity Analyst with IDS Financial Services from 1987 to 1994. Mr. McDonald has managed Growth Fund since September 1994, when he joined IAI as a Vice President and equity portfolio manager. Before joining IAI, Mr. McDonald was a Managing Director of Wessels Arnold & Henderson from 1989 to 1994 and an Associate Portfolio Manager with IDS Financial Services from 1986 to 1989.

Todd McCallister has responsibility for the management of Growth and Income Fund. Mr. McCallister is a Vice President and has served as a portfolio manager of IAI since 1993. Before joining IAI in 1992, Mr. McCallister was an Investment Analyst with ANB Investment Management from 1987 to 1992. Mr. McCallister has managed Growth and Income Fund since 1994.

Suzanne Zak has responsibility for the management of Midcap Growth Fund. Ms. Zak is a Senior Vice President and has served as an equity portfolio manager since joining IAI in 1992. Before joining IAI, Ms. Zak had been a Managing Director of J & W Seligman from 1985 to 1992. Ms. Zak has managed Midcap Growth Fund since 1993.

Julian (Bing) Carlin and Mark Hoonsbeen have responsibility for the management of Regional Fund. Mr. Carlin is a Senior Vice President and has served as an equity portfolio manager since joining IAI in 1974. Mr. Carlin has managed Regional Fund since its inception. Mr. Hoonsbeen is a Vice President and has managed Regional Fund since he joined IAI in 1994. Before joining IAI, Mr. Hoonsbeen served as an equity portfolio manager for The St. Paul Companies Inc. from 1986 to 1994.

Douglas Platt has been responsible for the management of Value Fund since 1991. Mr. Platt is a Senior Vice President and has served as a portfolio manager of IAI since 1967.

R. David Spreng has been responsible for Fund investments in restricted securities, including equity and limited partnership interests in privately-held companies and investment partnerships, since 1993. Mr. Spreng is a Senior Vice President and has served IAI in several capacities since 1989.

Pursuant to the terms of Administrative Agreements, IAI also provides all required administrative, stock transfer, redemption, dividend disbursing and accounting services to the Funds, including, for example, the maintenance of a Fund's accounts, books and records, the daily calculation of the Fund's net asset value, daily and periodic reports, all information necessary to complete tax returns, questionnaires and other reports requested by a Fund, the maintenance of stock registry records, the processing of requested account registration changes and redemption requests, and the administration of payments of dividends and distributions declared by a Fund. As compensation for these services, each Fund paid IAI an administrative fee of .20% of the Funds average month-end net assets for the fiscal year or period ended March 31, 1995. IAI may use all or a portion of this administrative fee to pay certain institutions which have contracted with IAI to provide certain administrative services to their customers who invest in a Fund. Such services include, but are not limited to, shareholder assistance and communication, transaction processing and settlement, account set-up and maintenance, shareholder tax reporting, and accounting.

In addition to the advisory fee and the administrative fee paid to IAI, each Fund pays all its other costs and expenses, including, for example, costs incurred in the purchase and sale of assets, interest, taxes, charges of the custodian of each Fund's assets, costs of reports and proxy materials sent to Fund shareholders, fees paid for independent auditing and legal services, costs of printing prospectuses for Fund shareholders and registering the Funds shares, postage, fees to disinterested directors, insurance premiums and costs of attending investment conferences.

The Advisory Agreements provide that IAI shall reimburse a Fund for operating expenses (other than interest and, in certain circumstances, taxes and extraordinary expenses) which, for any year, exceed 1.25% of a Fund's average month-end net assets. IAI shall not be liable for any loss suffered by a Fund in the absence of willful misfeasance, bad faith or gross negligence in the performance of its duties and obligations.

PLAN OF DISTRIBUTION

Each Fund has adopted a written plan of distribution (the "Plan") in accordance with Rule 12b-1 under the 1940 Act pursuant to which it pays a fee as described below. Under the Plan, each Fund has entered into a Distribution and Shareholders Services Agreement with IAI Securities, Inc. (IAIS), pursuant to which a Fund may pay IAIS a fee for servicing Fund shareholder accounts and for distributing Fund shares (the Rule 12b-1 Fee). Subject to the expense limitations described above, each Fund has agreed to pay IAIS a Rule 12b-1 Fee at an annual rate of .25% of a Fund's average month-end net assets (which amount will be paid to IAIS regardless of amounts spent by IAIS in servicing Fund shareholders and distributing a Fund's shares).

The Rule 12b-1 Fee may be used by each Fund to compensate IAIS for the provision of certain services to Fund shareholders. The services provided may include personal services provided to shareholders, such as answering shareholder inquiries regarding a Fund and providing reports and other information, and services related to the maintenance of shareholder accounts. IAIS may use the Rule 12b-1 Fee to make payments to qualifying broker-dealers and financial institutions that provide such services.

The Rule 12b-1 Fee may also be used by IAIS for the purposes of financing any activity which is primarily intended to result in the sale of shares of a Fund. The expenses of such activities include, by way of example but not by way of limitation, costs of prospectuses, semiannual reports, costs of quarterly reports and monthly letters to prospective shareholders, expenses associated with the preparation and distribution of sales literature and advertising of any type, compensation and benefits paid to and expenses incurred by personnel, including supervisory personnel, involved in direct mail and advertising activities and activities relating to the direct marketing of Fund shares to the public, and compensation to other broker-dealers for selling Fund shares.

The Rule 12b-1 Fee payable by a Fund is subject to the limitations on Fund operating expenses set forth in the Advisory Agreements described above. Additionally, IAIS, in its sole and absolute discretion, may from time to time, out of its own assets, pay for certain additional costs associated with shareholder servicing or distributing a Fund's shares. For the fiscal year or period ended March 31, 1995, each Fund paid IAIS annualized Rule 12b-1 Fees as a percentage of such Funds average month-end net assets as follows: Emerging Growth Fund: .25%; Growth Fund: .02%; Growth and Income Fund: .25%; Midcap Growth Fund: .18%; Regional Fund: .25%; and Value Fund: .12%. IAIS is an affiliate of IAI and its offices are the same as those of the Funds.

Consistent with the Rules of Fair Practice of the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., IAI may consider sales of shares of a Fund as a factor in the selection of broker-dealers to execute a Funds securities transactions.

COMPUTATION OF NET ASSET VALUE AND PRICING

Each Fund is open for business each day the New York Stock Exchange ("NYSE") is open. IAI normally calculates a Fund's net asset value (NAV) as of the close of business of the NYSE, normally 3 p.m. Central time.

A Fund's NAV is the value of a single share. The NAV is computed by adding up the value of a Fund's investments, cash, and other assets, subtracting its liabilities, and then dividing the result by the number of shares outstanding.

A Fund's investments with remaining maturities of 60 days or less may be valued on the basis of amortized cost. This method minimizes the effect of changes in a security's market value. Other portfolio securities and assets are valued primarily on the basis of market quotations or, if quotations are not readily available, by a method that the Board of Directors believes accurately reflects fair value. Foreign securities are valued on the basis of quotations from the primary market in which they are traded, and are translated from the local currency into U.S. dollars using current exchange rates.

The offering price (price to buy one share) and redemption price (price to sell one share) are a Fund's NAV.

PURCHASE OF SHARES

Each Fund offers its shares continually to the public at the net asset value of such shares. Shares may be purchased directly from a Fund or through certain security dealers who have responsibility to promptly transmit orders and may charge a processing fee, provided that the Fund is duly registered in the state of the purchasers residence, if required, and the purchaser otherwise satisfies the Funds purchase requirements. No sales load or commission is charged in connection with the purchase of Fund shares.

Shares may be purchased for cash or in exchange for securities which are permissible investments of a Fund, subject to IAIs discretion and its determination that the securities are acceptable. Securities accepted in exchange will be valued on the basis of market quotations or, if market quotations are not available, by a method that IAI believes accurately reflects fair value. In addition, securities accepted in exchange are required to be liquid securities that are not restricted as to transfer.

The minimum initial investment to establish an account with the IAI Mutual Funds is $5,000. Such initial investment may be allocated among a Fund and other IAI Mutual Funds as desired, provided that no less than $1,000 is allocated to any one fund. The minimum initial investment for IRA accounts is $2,000, provided that the minimum amount that may be allocated to one fund is $1,000. Once the account minimum has been met, subsequent purchases can be made in a Fund for $100 or more.

Investors may satisfy the minimum investment requirement by participating in the STAR Program. Participation in the STAR Program requires an initial investment of $1,000 per Fund and a commitment to invest an aggregate of $5,000 within 24 months. If a STAR Program participant does not invest an aggregate of $5,000 in the IAI Mutual Funds within 24 months, IAI may, at its option, redeem such shareholder's interest and remit such amount to the shareholders. Investors wishing to participate in the STAR Program should contact the Fund to obtain a STAR Program application.

To purchase shares, forward the completed application and a check payable to IAI Funds to a Fund. Upon receipt, your account will be credited with the number of full and fractional shares which can be purchased at the net asset value next determined.

Purchases of shares are subject to acceptance or rejection by a Fund on the same day the purchase order is received and are not binding until so accepted. It is the policy of the Funds and IAIS to keep confidential information contained in the application and regarding the account of an investor or potential investor in a Fund. Share certificates will only be issued for a Fund upon written request.

All correspondence relating to purchase of shares should be directed to the office of the Funds, P.O. Box 357, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55440, or, if using overnight delivery, to 3700 First Bank Place, 601 Second Avenue South, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55402. For assistance in completing the application please contact IAI Mutual Fund Shareholder Services at 1-800-945-3863.

RETIREMENT PLANS

Shares of the Funds may be an appropriate investment medium for various retirement plans. Persons desiring information about establishing an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) (for employed persons and their spouses) or other retirement plans should contact IAI Mutual Fund Shareholder Services at 1-800-945-3863. All retirement plans involve a long-term commitment of assets and are subject to various legal requirements and restrictions. The legal and tax implications may vary according to the circumstances of the individual investor. Therefore, you are urged to consult with an attorney or tax advisor prior to the establishment of such a plan.

AUTOMATIC INVESTMENT PLAN

Investors may arrange to make regular investments of $100 or more per Fund on a monthly or twice a month basis, effective as of the 4th and/or the 18th day of each month (or the next business day), through automatic deductions from their checking or savings accounts. Such investors may, of course, terminate their participation in the Automatic Investment Plans at any time upon written notice to a Fund. Any changes or instructions to terminate existing Automatic Investment Plan must be received at least two weeks before the date on which the change or termination is to take place. Investors interested in participating in the Automatic Investment Plan should complete the Automatic Investment Plan application and return it to the Funds.

REDEMPTION OF SHARES

Registered holders of Fund shares may at any time require a Fund to redeem their shares upon their written request. Shareholders may redeem shares by phone, subject to a limit of $50,000, provided such shareholders have authorized the Funds to accept telephone instructions.

Fund shareholders who redeem shares by presenting stock certificates must endorse the back of the certificate with the signature of the person whose name appears on the certificate.

Redemption instructions must be signed by the person(s) in whose name the shares are registered. If the redemption proceeds are to be paid or mailed to any person other than the shareholder of record or if redemption proceeds are in excess of $50,000, a Fund will require that the signature on the written instructions be guaranteed by a participant in a signature guarantee program, which may include certain national banks or trust companies or certain member firms of national securities exchanges. (Notarization by a Notary Public is NOT ACCEPTED.) If the shares are held of record in the name of a corporation, partnership, trust or fiduciary, a Fund may require additional evidence of authority prior to accepting a request for redemption. A Fund will not send redemption proceeds until checks (including certified checks or cashiers checks) received for the shares purchased have cleared.

The redemption proceeds received by the investor are based on the net asset value next determined after redemption instructions in good order are received by a Fund. Since the value of shares redeemed is based upon the value of a Fund investment at the time of redemption, it may be more or less than the price originally paid for the shares.

Payment for shares redeemed will ordinarily be made within seven days after a request for redemption has been made. Normally a Fund will mail payment for shares redeemed on the business day following receipt of the redemption request.

Following a redemption or transfer request, if the value of a shareholder's interest in a Fund falls below $500, such Fund reserves the right to redeem such shareholder's entire interest and remit such amount. Such a redemption will only be effected following: (a) a redemption or transfer by a shareholder which causes the value of such shareholder's interest in such Fund to fall below $500; (b) the mailing by such Fund to such shareholder of a notice of intention to redeem; and (c) the passage of at least six months from the date of such mailing, during which time the investor will have the opportunity to make an additional investment in such Fund to increase the value of such investor's account to at least $500.

EXCHANGE PRIVILEGE

The Exchange Privilege enables shareholders to purchase, in exchange for shares of a Fund, shares of other IAI Mutual Funds. These funds have different investment objectives from the Funds. Shareholders may exchange shares of a Fund for shares of another fund managed by IAI provided that the fund whose shares will be acquired is duly registered in the state of the shareholders residence and the shareholder otherwise satisfies the funds purchase requirements. Although the IAI Mutual Funds do not currently charge a fee for use of the Exchange Privilege, they reserve the right to do so in the future.

Because excessive trading can hurt Fund performance and shareholders, there is a limit of four exchanges out of each IAI Mutual Fund per calendar year per account. Accounts under common ownership or control, including accounts with the same taxpayer identification number, will be counted together for purposes of the four exchange limit. Each Fund reserves the right to temporarily or permanently terminate the Exchange Privilege of any investor who exceeds this limit. The limit may be modified for certain retirement plan accounts, as required by the applicable plan document and/or relevant Department of Labor regulations, and for Automatic Exchange Plan participants. Each Fund also reserves the right to refuse or limit exchange purchases by any investor if, in IAI's judgment, such Fund would be unable to invest the money effectively in accordance with its investment objectives and policies, or would otherwise potentially be adversely affected.

Fund shareholders wishing to exercise the Exchange Privilege should notify the Fund in writing or, provided such shareholders have authorized a Fund to accept telephone instructions, by telephone. At the time of the exchange, if the net asset value of the shares redeemed in connection with the exchange is greater than the investors cost, a taxable capital gain will be realized. A capital loss will be realized if at the time of the exchange the net asset value of the shares redeemed in the exchange is less than the investors cost. Each Fund reserves the right to terminate or modify the Exchange Privilege in the future.

AUTOMATIC EXCHANGE PLAN

Investors may arrange to make regular exchanges of $100 or more between any of the IAI Mutual Funds on a monthly basis. Exchanges will take place at the closing price of the fifth day of each month (or the next business day). Shareholders are responsible for making sure sufficient shares exist in the Fund account from which the exchange takes place. If there are not sufficient funds in the Fund account to meet the requested exchange amount, the Automatic Exchange Plan will be suspended. Shareholders may not close Fund accounts through the Automatic Exchange Plan. Investors interested in participating in the Automatic Exchange Plan should complete the Automatic Exchange Plan portion of their application. For assistance in completing the application contact IAI Mutual Fund Shareholder Services at 1-800-945-3863.

AUTHORIZED TELEPHONE TRADING

Investors can transact account exchanges and redemptions via the telephone by completing the Authorized Telephone Trading section of the application and returning it to a Fund. Investors requesting telephone trading privileges will be provided with a personal identification number (PIN) that must accompany any instructions by phone. Shares will be redeemed or exchanged at the next determined net asset value. All proceeds must be made payable to the owner(s) of record and delivered to the address of record.

In order to confirm that telephone instructions for redemptions and exchanges are genuine, the Funds have established reasonable procedures, including the requirement that a personal identification number accompany telephone instructions. If a Fund or the transfer agent fails to follow these procedures, such Fund may be liable for losses due to unauthorized or fraudulent instructions. None of the Funds, their transfer agent, IAI, or IAIS will be liable for any loss, injury, damage, or expense for acting upon telephone instructions believed to be genuine, and will otherwise not be responsible for the authenticity of any telephone instructions, and, accordingly, the investor bears the risk of loss resulting from telephone instructions. All telephone redemptions and exchange requests will be tape recorded. Telephone redemptions are not permitted for IRA or Simplified Employee Pension (SEP) accounts. For redemptions from these accounts, please contact IAI Mutual Fund Shareholder Services at 1-800-945-3863 for instructions.

SYSTEMATIC CASH WITHDRAWAL PLAN

Each Fund has available a Systematic Cash Withdrawal Plan for any investor desiring to follow a program of systematically withdrawing a fixed amount of money from an investment in shares of a Fund. An investment of $10,000 is required to establish the plan. Payments under the plan will be monthly or quarterly in amounts of $100 or more. Shares will be sold with the closing price of the 15th of the applicable month (or the next business day). To provide funds for payment, such Fund will redeem as many full and fractional shares as necessary at the redemption price, which is net asset value.

Payments under this plan, unless pursuant to a retirement plan, should not be considered income. Withdrawal payments may exceed dividends and distributions and, to this extent, there will be a reduction in the investor's equity. An investor should also understand that this plan cannot insure profit, nor does it protect against any loss in a declining market. Careful consideration should be given to the amount withdrawn each month. Excessive withdrawals could lead to a serious depletion of equity, especially during periods of declining market values. Fund management will be available for consultation in this matter.

Plan application forms are available through the Funds. If you would like assistance in completing the application contact IAI Mutual Fund Shareholder Services at 1-800-945-3863.

DIVIDENDS, DISTRIBUTIONS AND TAX STATUS

The policy of the Funds is to pay dividends from net investment income semiannually and to make distributions of realized capital gains, if any, annually. However, provisions in the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"), may result in additional net investment income and capital gains distributions by a Fund. When you open an account, you should specify on your application how you want to receive your distributions. The Funds offer three options: Full Reinvestment--your dividend and capital gain distributions will be automatically reinvested in additional shares of the Fund; Capital Gains Reinvestment--your capital gain distributions will be automatically reinvested, but your income dividend distributions will be paid in cash; and Cash--your income dividends and capital gain distributions will be paid in cash. Distributions taken in cash can be sent via check or transferred directly to your account at any bank, savings and loan or credit union that is a member of the Automated Clearing House (ACH) network. Unless directed otherwise by the shareholder, each Fund will automatically reinvest all such distributions into full and fractional shares at net asset value.

The Funds Directed Dividend service allows you to invest your dividends and/or capital gain distributions directly into another IAI Mutual Fund. Contact IAI Mutual Fund Shareholder Services at 1-800-945-3863 for details.

Each Fund intends to qualify for tax purposes as a regulated investment company under Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code during the current taxable year. If so qualified, each Fund will not be subject to federal income tax on income that it distributes to its shareholders.

Distributions are subject to federal income tax, and may also be subject to state or local taxes. If you live outside the United States, your distributions could also be taxed by the country in which you reside. Your distributions are taxable when they are paid, whether you take them in cash or reinvest them in additional shares.

For federal income tax purposes, each Fund's income and short-term capital gain distributions are taxed as dividends; long-term capital gain distributions designated as capital gain dividends are taxed as long-term capital gains regardless of the length of time the shareholder has held the shares. Annually, IAI will send you and the IRS a statement showing the amount of each taxable distribution you received in the previous year.

Upon redemption of shares of a Fund, the shareholder will generally recognize a capital gain or loss equal to the difference between the amount realized on the redemption and the shareholders adjusted basis in such shares. Such gain or loss will be long-term if the shares have been held for more than one year. Under the Code, the deductibility of capital losses is subject to certain limitations.

Whenever you sell shares of a Fund, IAI will send you a confirmation statement showing how many shares you sold and at what price. You will also receive an account statement quarterly and a consolidated transaction statement annually. However, it is up to you or your tax preparer to determine whether this sale resulted in a capital gain and, if so, the amount of tax to be paid. Be sure to keep your account statements; the information they contain will be essential in calculating the amount of your capital gains.

The foregoing relates to federal income taxation as in effect as of the date of this Prospectus. For a more detailed discussion of the federal income tax consequences of investing in shares of a Fund, see "Tax Status" in the Statement of Additional Information.

DESCRIPTION OF COMMON STOCK

Emerging Growth Fund and Midcap Growth Fund are separate portfolios represented by separate classes of common stock of IAI Investment Funds VI, Inc. Growth Fund is a separate portfolio represented by a separate class of common stock of IAI Investment Funds II, Inc. Growth and Income Fund is a separate portfolio represented by a separate class of common stock of IAI Investment Funds VII, Inc. Regional Fund is a separate portfolio represented by a separate class of common stock of IAI Investment Funds IV, Inc. Value Fund is a separate portfolio represented by a separate class of common stock of IAI Investment Funds VIII, Inc. Each of these companies is a Minnesota corporation authorized to issue its shares of common stock in more than one series. All shares of each Fund have equal rights as to redemption, dividends and liquidation, and will be fully paid and nonassessable when issued and will have no preemptive or conversion rights.

The shares of each Fund have noncumulative voting rights, which means that the holders of more than 50% of the shares voting for the election of directors can elect 100% of the directors if they choose to do so. On some issues, such as the election of directors, all shares of each corporation vote together as one series. On an issue affecting only a particular series, such as voting on the advisory agreement, only the approval of the series is required to make the agreement effective with respect to such series.

Annual or periodically scheduled regular meetings of shareholders will not be held except as required by law. Minnesota corporation law does not require an annual meeting; instead, it provides for the Board of Directors to convene shareholder meetings when it deems appropriate. In addition, if a regular meeting of shareholders has not been held during the immediately preceding fifteen months, shareholders holding three percent or more of the voting shares of a Fund may demand a regular meeting of shareholders of such Fund by written notice of demand given to the chief executive officer or the chief financial officer of such Fund. Within thirty days after receipt of the demand by one of those officers, the Board of Directors shall cause a regular meeting of shareholders to be called and held no later than ninety days after receipt of the demand, all at the expense of such Fund. An annual meeting will be held on the removal of a director or directors of such Fund if requested in writing by holders of not less than 10% of the outstanding shares of such Fund.

The shares of each Fund are transferable by endorsement of the certificate if held by the shareholder, or if the certificate is held by a Fund, by delivery to such Fund of transfer instructions. Transfer instructions or certificates should be delivered to the office of a Fund. Each Fund is not bound to recognize any transfer until it is recorded on the stock transfer books maintained by such Fund.

COUNSEL AND AUDITORS

CUSTODIAN, TRANSFER AGENT AND DIVIDEND DISBURSING AGENT

The Custodian for each Fund is Norwest Bank Minnesota, N.A., Norwest Center, Sixth and Marquette, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55479. Norwest employs foreign subcustodians and depositories, which were approved by the Funds Board of Directors in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission, for the purpose of providing custodial services for a Funds assets held outside of the United States. For a listing of the subcustodians and depositories currently employed by the Funds, see the Statement of Additional Information. IAI acts as each Funds transfer agent, dividend disbursing agent and IRA Custodian, at P.O. Box 357, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Each Fund sends to its shareholders a six-month unaudited and an annual audited financial report, each of which includes a list of investment securities held. To reduce the volume of mail you receive, only one copy of most Fund reports, such as the Funds Annual Report, may be mailed to your household (same surname, same address). Please call IAI Mutual Fund Shareholder Services at 1-800-945-3863 if you wish to receive additional shareholder reports.

In the opinion of the staff of the Securities and Exchange Commission, the use of this combined prospectus may possibly subject all Funds to a certain amount of liability for any losses arising out of any statement or omission in this Prospectus regarding a particular Fund. In the opinion of the Funds management, however, the risk of such liability is not materially increased by use of a combined prospectus.

Shareholder inquiries should be directed to a Fund at the telephone number or mailing address listed on the inside back cover of this Prospectus.

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVES AND POLICIES

The investment objectives and policies of IAI Emerging Growth Fund, IAI Growth Fund, IAI Growth and Income Fund, IAI Midcap Growth Fund, IAI Regional Fund and IAI Value Fund (the "Funds"), are summarized on the front page of the Prospectus and in the text of the Prospectus under "Investment Objectives and Policies." Investors should understand that all investments have risks. There can be no guarantee against loss resulting from an investment in the Funds, and there can be no assurance that the Fund's investment policies will be successful, or that its investment objective will be attained. Certain of the investment practices of the Funds are further explained below.

REPURCHASE AGREEMENTS

Each Fund may invest in repurchase agreements relating to the securities in which it may invest. A repurchase agreement involves the purchase of securities with the condition that, after a stated period of time, the original seller will buy back the securities at a predetermined price or yield. A Funds custodian will have custody of, and will hold in a segregated account, securities acquired by such Fund under a repurchase agreement or other securities as collateral. In the case of a security registered on a book entry system, the book entry will be maintained in a Fund's name or that of its custodian. Repurchase agreements involve certain risks not associated with direct investments in securities. For example, if the seller of the agreement defaults on its obligation to repurchase the underlying securities at a time when the value of the securities has declined, a Fund may incur a loss upon disposition of such securities. In the event that bankruptcy proceedings are commenced with respect to the seller of the agreement, a Fund's ability to dispose of the collateral to recover its investment may be restricted or delayed. While collateral will at all times be maintained in an amount equal to the repurchase price under the agreement (including accrued interest due thereunder), to the extent proceeds from the sale of collateral were less than the repurchase price, a Fund could suffer a loss.

REVERSE REPURCHASE AGREEMENTS

Each Fund may invest in reverse repurchase agreements. In a reverse repurchase agreement, a Fund sells a portfolio instrument to another party, such as a bank or broker-dealer, in return for cash and agrees to repurchase the instrument at a particular price and time. While a reverse repurchase agreement is outstanding, a Fund will maintain appropriate liquid assets in a segregated custodial account to cover its obligation under the agreement. A Fund will enter into reverse repurchase agreements only with parties whose creditworthiness has been found satisfactory by IAI, the Fund's investment adviser and manager. As a result, such transactions may increase fluctuations in the market value of a Fund's assets and may be viewed as a form of leverage.

SECURITIES OF FOREIGN ISSUERS

Investing in foreign securities may result in greater risk than that incurred by investing in domestic securities. There is generally less publicly available information about foreign issuers comparable to reports and ratings that are published about companies in the United States. Also, foreign issuers are not subject to uniform accounting, auditing and financial reporting standards, practices and requirements comparable to those applicable to United States companies.

It is contemplated that most foreign securities will be purchased in over-the-counter markets or on stock exchanges located in the countries in which the respective principal offices of the issuers of the various securities are located, if that is the best available market. Foreign stock markets are generally not as developed or efficient as those in the United States. While growing in volume, they usually have substantially less volume than the New York Stock Exchange, and securities of some foreign companies are less liquid and more volatile than securities of comparable United States companies. Similarly, volume and liquidity in most foreign bond markets is less than in the United States and at times volatility of price can be greater than in the United States. Commissions on foreign stock exchanges are generally higher than commissions on United States exchanges, although the Fund will endeavor to achieve the most favorable net results on its portfolio transactions. There is generally less government supervision and regulation of foreign stock exchanges, brokers and listed companies than in the United States.

With respect to certain foreign countries, there is the possibility of adverse changes in investment or exchange control regulations, expropriation or confiscatory taxation, limitations on the removal of funds or other assets of a Fund, political or social instability, or diplomatic developments which could affect United States investments in those countries. Moreover, individual foreign economies may differ favorably or unfavorably from the United States' economy in such respects as growth of gross national product, rate of inflation, capital reinvestment, resource self-sufficiency and balance of payments position.

IAI is not aware at this time of the existence of any investment or exchange control regulations which might substantially impair the operations of a Fund as described in the Prospectus and this Statement of Additional Information. It should be noted, however, that this situation could change at any time.

The dividends and interest payable on certain of a Fund's foreign portfolio securities may be subject to foreign withholding taxes, thus reducing the net amount of income available for distribution to a Fund's shareholders. The expense ratio of a Fund should not be materially affected by such Fund's investment in such foreign securities.

ILLIQUID SECURITIES

Each Fund may also invest up to 15% of its total assets in securities that are considered illiquid because of the absence of a readily available market or due to legal or contractual restrictions. However, certain restricted securities that are not registered for sale to the general public that can be resold to institutional investors may be considered liquid pursuant to guidelines adopted by the Board of Directors. It is not possible to predict with assurance the maintenance of an institutional trading market for such securities and the liquidity of a Funds investments could be impaired if trading declines.

LENDING PORTFOLIO SECURITIES

In order to generate additional income, each Fund may lend portfolio securities to broker-dealers, banks or other financial borrowers of securities. As with other extensions of credit, there are risks of delay in recovery or even loss of rights in the collateral should the borrower of the securities fail financially. However, a Fund will only enter into loan arrangements with broker-dealers, banks or other institutions which IAI has determined are creditworthy under guidelines established by the Fund's Board of Directors. Each Fund may also experience a loss if, upon the failure of a borrower to return loaned securities, the collateral is not sufficient in value or liquidity to cover the value of such loaned securities (including accrued interest thereon). However, a Fund will receive collateral in the form of cash, United States Government securities, certificates of deposit or other high-grade, short-term obligations or interest-bearing cash equivalents equal to at least 102% of the value of the securities loaned. The value of the collateral and of the securities loaned will be marked to market on a daily basis. During the time portfolio securities are on loan, the borrower pays a Fund an amount equivalent to any dividends or interest paid on the securities and a Fund may invest the cash collateral and earn additional income or may receive an agreed upon amount of interest income from the borrower. However, the amounts received by a Fund may be reduced by finders' fees paid to broker-dealers and related expenses.

SWAP AGREEMENTS

Swap agreements can be individually negotiated and structured to include exposure to a variety of different types of investments or market factors. Depending on their structure, swap agreements may increase or decrease a Fund's exposure to long- or short-term interest rates (in the U.S. or abroad), foreign currency values, mortgage securities, corporate borrowing rates, or other factors such as security prices or inflation rates. Swap agreements can take many different forms and are known by a variety of names. A Fund is not limited to any particular form of swap agreement if IAI determines it is consistent with

Swap agreements will tend to shift a Fund's investment exposure from one type of investment to another. For example, if a Fund agrees to exchange payments in dollars for payments in foreign currency, the swap agreement would tend to decrease a Fund's exposure to U.S. interest rates and increase its exposure to foreign currency and interest rates. Depending on how they are used, swap agreements may increase or decrease the overall volatility of a Fund's investments and its share price.

The most significant factor in the performance of swap agreements is the change in the specific interest rate, currency, or other factors that determine the amounts of payments due to and from a Fund. If a swap agreement calls for payments by a Fund, such Fund must be prepared to make such payments when due. In addition, if the counterparty's creditworthiness declines, the value of a swap agreement would be likely to decline, potentially resulting in losses. A Fund expects to be able to eliminate its exposure under swap agreements either by assignment or other disposition, or by entering into an offsetting swap agreement with the same party or a similar creditworthy party.

Each Fund will maintain appropriate liquid assets in a segregated custodial account to cover its current obligations under swap agreements. If a Fund enters into a swap agreement on a net basis, it will segregate assets with a daily value at least equal to the excess, if any, of a Fund's accrued obligations under the swap agreement over the accrued amount such Fund is entitled to receive under the agreement. If a Fund enters into a swap agreement on other than a net basis, it will segregate assets with a value equal to the full amount of such Fund's accrued obligation under the agreement.

INDEXED SECURITIES

Each Fund may purchase securities whose prices are indexed to the prices of other securities, securities indexes, currencies, precious metals or other commodities, or other financial indicators. Indexed securities typically, but not always, are debt securities or deposits whose value at maturity or coupon rate is determined by reference to a specific instrument or statistic. Gold-indexed securities, for example, typically provide for a maturity value that depends on the price of gold, resulting in a security whose price tends to rise and fall together with gold prices. Currency-indexed securities typically are short to intermediate-term debt securities whose maturity values or interest rates are determined by reference to the values of one or more specified foreign currencies, and may offer higher yields than U.S. dollar-denominated securities of equivalent issuers. Currency-indexed securities may be positively or negatively indexed; that is, their maturity value may increase when the specified currency value increases, resulting in a security that performs similarly to a foreign-denominated instrument, or their maturity value may decline when foreign currencies increase, resulting in a security whose price characteristics are similar to a put on the underlying currency. Currency-indexed securities may also have prices that depend on the values of a number of different foreign currencies relative to each other.

The performance of indexed securities depends to a great extent on the performance of the security, currency, or other instrument to which they are indexed, and may also be influenced by interest rate changes in the U.S. and abroad. At the same time, indexed securities are subject to the credit risks associated with the issuer of the security, and their values may decline substantially if the issuer's creditworthiness deteriorates. Recent issuers of indexed securities have included banks, corporations, and certain U.S. government agencies. IAI will use its judgment in determining whether indexed securities should be treated as short-term instruments, bonds, stocks, or as a separate asset class for purposes of a Fund's investment policies, depending on the individual characteristics of the securities. Indexed securities may be more volatile than the underlying instruments.

FOREIGN CURRENCY TRANSACTIONS

Each Fund may hold foreign currency deposits from time to time and may convert dollars and foreign currencies in the foreign exchange markets. Currency conversion involves dealer spreads and other costs, although commissions usually are not charged. Currencies may be exchanged on a spot (i.e., cash) basis, or by entering into forward contracts to purchase or sell foreign currencies at a future date and price. Forward contracts generally are traded in an interbank market conducted directly between currency traders (usually large commercial banks) and their customers. The parties to a forward contract may agree to offset or terminate the contract before its maturity, or may hold the contract to maturity and complete the contemplated currency exchange.

Such Funds may use currency forward contracts to manage currency risks and to facilitate transactions in foreign securities. The following discussion summarizes the principal currency management strategies involving forward contracts that could be used by the Funds.

In connection with purchases and sales of securities denominated in foreign currencies, a Fund may enter into currency forward contracts to fix a definite price for the purchase or sale in advance of the trade's settlement date. This technique is sometimes referred to as a "settlement hedge" or "transaction hedge." IAI expects to enter into settlement hedges in the normal course of managing a Fund's foreign investments. A Fund could also enter into forward contracts to purchase or sell a foreign currency in anticipation of future purchases or sales of securities denominated in foreign currency, even if the specific investments have not yet been selected by IAI.

Each Fund may also use forward contracts to hedge against a decline in the value of existing investments denominated in foreign currency. For example, if a Fund owned securities denominated in pounds sterling, it could enter into a forward contract to sell pounds sterling in return for U.S. dollars to hedge against possible declines in the pound's value. Such a hedge, sometimes referred to as a "position hedge," would tend to offset both positive and negative currency fluctuations but would not offset changes in security values caused by other factors. A Fund could also hedge the position by selling another currency expected to perform similarly to the pound sterling -- for example, by entering into a forward contract to sell Deutschmarks or European Currency Units in return for U.S. dollars. This type of hedge, sometimes referred to as a "proxy hedge," could offer advantages in terms of cost, yield, or efficiency, but generally would not hedge currency exposure as effectively as a simple hedge into U.S. dollars. Proxy hedges may result in losses if the currency used to hedge does not perform similarly to the currency in which the hedged securities are denominated.

Under certain conditions, SEC guidelines require mutual funds to set aside appropriate liquid assets in a segregated custodial account to cover currency forward contracts. As required by SEC guidelines, each Fund will segregate assets to cover currency forward contracts, if any, whose purpose is essentially speculative. Each Fund will not segregate assets to cover forward contracts entered into for hedging purposes, including settlement hedges, position hedges, and proxy hedges.

Successful use of forward currency contracts will depend on IAI's skill in analyzing and predicting currency values. Forward contracts may substantially change a Fund's investment exposure to changes in currency exchange rates, and could result in losses to a Fund if currencies do not perform as IAI anticipates. For example, if a currency's value rose at a time when IAI had hedged a Fund by selling that currency in exchange for dollars, such Fund would be unable to participate in the currency's appreciation. If IAI hedges currency exposure through proxy hedges, a Fund could realize currency losses from the hedge and the security position at the same time if the two currencies do not move in tandem. Similarly, if IAI increases a Fund's exposure to a foreign currency, and that currency's value declines, such Fund will realize a loss. There is no assurance that IAI's use of forward currency contracts will be advantageous to a Fund or that it will hedge at an appropriate time. The policies described in this section are non-fundamental policies of the Funds.

LIMITATIONS ON FUTURES AND OPTIONS TRANSACTIONS

Each Fund has filed a notice of eligibility for exclusion from the definition of the term "commodity pool operator" with the Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC) and the National Futures Association, which regulate trading in the futures markets, before engaging in any purchases or sales of futures contracts or options on futures contracts. Each Fund intends to comply with Section 4.5 of the regulations under the Commodity Exchange Act, which limits the extent to which a Fund can commit assets to initial margin deposits and option premiums.

The above limitation on a Fund's investments in futures contracts and options, and such Fund's policies regarding futures contracts and options discussed elsewhere in this Statement of Additional Information may be changed as regulatory agencies permit.

FUTURES CONTRACTS

When a Fund purchases a futures contract, it agrees to purchase a specified underlying instrument at a specified future date. When a Fund sells a futures contract, it agrees to sell the underlying instrument at a specified future date. The price at which the purchase and sale will take place is fixed when a Fund enters into the contract. Some currently available futures contracts are based on specific securities, such as U.S. Treasury bonds or notes, and some are based on indexes of securities prices, such as the Standard & Poor's 500 Composite Stock Price Index (S&P 500). Futures can be held until their delivery dates, or can be closed out before then if a liquid secondary market is available.

The value of a futures contract tends to increase and decrease in tandem with the value of its underlying instrument. Therefore, purchasing futures contracts will tend to increase a Fund's exposure to positive and negative price fluctuations in the underlying instrument, much as if it had purchased the underlying instrument directly. When a Fund sells a futures contract, by contrast, the value of its futures position will tend to move in a direction contrary to the market. Selling futures contracts, therefore, will tend to offset both positive and negative market price changes, much as if the underlying instrument had been sold.

FUTURES MARGIN PAYMENTS

The purchaser or seller of a futures contract is not required to deliver or pay for the underlying instrument unless the contract is held until the delivery date. However, both the purchaser and seller are required to deposit "initial margin" with a futures broker, known as a futures commission merchant (FCM), when the contract is entered into. Initial margin deposits are typically equal to a percentage of the contract's value. If the value of either party's position declines, that party will be required to make additional "variation margin" payments to settle the change in value on a daily basis. The party that has a gain may be entitled to receive all or a portion of this amount. Initial and variation margin payments do not constitute purchasing securities on margin for purposes of a Fund's investment limitations. In the event of the bankruptcy of an FCM that holds margin on behalf of a Fund, such Fund may be entitled to return of margin owed to it only in proportion to the amount received by the FCM's other customers, potentially resulting in losses to such Fund.

PURCHASING PUT AND CALL OPTIONS

By purchasing a put option, a Fund obtains the right (but not the obligation) to sell the option's underlying instrument at a fixed strike price. In return for this right, a Fund pays the current market price for the option (known as the option premium). Options have various types of underlying instruments, including specific securities, indexes of securities prices, and futures contracts. A Fund may terminate its position in a put option it has purchased by allowing it to expire or by exercising the option. If the option is allowed to expire, a Fund will lose the entire premium it paid. If a Fund exercises the option, it completes the sale of the underlying instrument at the strike price. A Fund may also terminate a put option position by closing it out in the secondary market at its current price, if a liquid secondary market exists.

The buyer of a typical put option can expect to realize a gain if security prices fall substantially. However, if the underlying instrument's price does not fall enough to offset the cost of purchasing the option, a put buyer can expect to suffer a loss (limited to the amount of the premium paid, plus related transaction costs).

The features of call options are essentially the same as those of put options, except that the purchaser of a call option obtains the right to purchase, rather than sell, the underlying instrument at the option's strike price. A call buyer typically attempts to participate in potential price increases of the underlying instrument with risk limited to the cost of the option if security prices fall. At the same time, the buyer can expect to suffer a loss if security prices do not rise sufficiently to offset the cost of the option.

WRITING PUT AND CALL OPTIONS

When a Fund writes a put option, it takes the opposite side of the transaction from the option's purchaser. In return for receipt of the premium, such Fund assumes the obligation to pay the strike price for the option's underlying instrument if the other party to the option chooses to exercise it. When writing an option on a futures contract a Fund would be required to make margin payments to an FCM as described above for futures contracts. A Fund may seek to terminate its position in a put option it writes before exercise by closing out the option in the secondary market at its current price. If the secondary market is not liquid for a put option a Fund has written, however, such Fund must continue to be prepared to pay the strike price while the option is outstanding, regardless of price changes, and must continue to set aside assets to cover its position. If security prices rise, a put writer would generally expect to profit, although its gain would be limited to the amount of the premium it received.

If security prices remain the same over time, it is likely that the writer will also profit, because it should be able to close out the option at a lower price. If security prices fall, the put writer would expect to suffer a loss. This loss should be less than the loss from purchasing the underlying instrument directly, however, because the premium received for writing the option should mitigate the effects of the decline.

Writing a call option obligates a Fund to sell or deliver the option's underlying instrument, in return for the strike price, upon exercise of the option. The characteristics of writing call options are similar to those of writing put options, except that writing calls generally is a profitable strategy if prices remain the same or fall. Through receipt of the option premium, a call writer mitigates the effects of a price decline. At the same time, because a call writer must be prepared to deliver the underlying instrument in return for the strike price, even if its current value is greater, a call writer gives up some ability to participate in security price increases.

COMBINED POSITIONS

A Fund may purchase and write options in combination with each other, or in combination with futures or forward contracts, to adjust the risk and return characteristics of the overall position. For example, a Fund may purchase a put option and write a call option on the same underlying instrument, in order to construct a combined position whose risk and return characteristics are similar to selling a futures contract. Another possible combined position would involve writing a call option at one strike price and buying a call option at a lower price, in order to reduce the risk of the written call option in the event of a substantial price increase. Because combined options positions involve multiple trades, they result in higher transaction costs and may be more difficult to open and close out.

CORRELATION OF PRICE CHANGES

Because there are a limited number of types of exchange-traded options and futures contracts, it is likely that the standardized contracts available will not match a Fund's current or anticipated investments exactly. A Fund may invest in options and futures contracts based on securities with different issuers, maturities, or other characteristics from the securities in which it typically invests, which involves a risk that the options or futures position will not track the performance of such Fund's other investments.

Options and futures prices can also diverge from the prices of their underlying instruments, even if the underlying instruments match a Fund's investments well. Options and futures prices are affected by such factors as current and anticipated short-term interest rates, changes in volatility of the underlying instrument, and the time remaining until expiration of the contract, which may not affect security prices the same way. Imperfect correlation may also result from differing levels of demand in the options and futures markets and the securities markets, from structural differences in how options and futures and securities are traded, or from imposition of daily price fluctuation limits or trading halts. A Fund may purchase or sell options and futures contracts with a greater or lesser value than the securities it wishes to hedge or intends to purchase in order to attempt to compensate for differences in volatility between the contract and the securities, although this may not be successful in all cases. If price changes in a Fund's options or futures positions are poorly correlated with its other investments, the positions may fail to produce anticipated gains or result in losses that are not offset by gains in other investments.

LIQUIDITY OF OPTIONS AND FUTURES CONTRACTS

There is no assurance a liquid secondary market will exist for any particular options or futures contract at any particular time. Options may have relatively low trading volume and liquidity if their strike prices are not close to the underlying instrument's current price. In addition, exchanges may establish daily price fluctuation limits for options and futures contracts, and may halt trading if a contract's price moves upward or downward more than the limit in a given day. On volatile trading days when the price fluctuation limit is reached or a trading halt is imposed, it may be impossible for a Fund to enter into new positions or close out existing positions. If the secondary market for a contract is not liquid because of price fluctuation limits or otherwise, it could prevent prompt liquidation of unfavorable positions, and potentially could require a Fund to continue to hold a position until delivery or expiration regardless of changes in its value. As a result, a Fund's access to other assets held to cover its options or futures positions could also be impaired.

OTC OPTIONS

Unlike exchange-traded options, which are standardized with respect to the underlying instrument, expiration date, contract size, and strike price, the terms of over-the-counter options (options not traded on exchanges) generally are established through negotiation with the other party to the option contract. While this type of arrangement allows a Fund greater flexibility to tailor an option to its needs, OTC options generally involve greater credit risk than exchange-traded options, which are guaranteed by the clearing organization of the exchanges where they are traded.

OPTIONS AND FUTURES RELATING TO FOREIGN CURRENCIES

Currency futures contracts are similar to forward currency exchange contracts, except that they are traded on exchanges (and have margin requirements) and are standardized as to contract size and delivery date. Most currency futures contracts call for payment or delivery in U.S. dollars. The underlying instrument of a currency option may be a foreign currency, which generally is purchased or delivered in exchange for U.S. dollars, or may be a futures contract. The purchaser of a currency call obtains the right to purchase the underlying currency, and the purchaser of a currency put obtains the right to sell the underlying currency.

The uses and risks of currency options and futures are similar to options and futures relating to securities or indexes, as discussed above. A Fund may purchase and sell currency futures and may purchase and write currency options to increase or decrease its exposure to different foreign currencies. A Fund may also purchase and write currency options in conjunction with each other or with currency futures or forward contracts. Currency futures and options values can be expected to correlate with exchange rates, but may not reflect other factors that affect the value of a Fund's investments. A currency hedge, for example, should protect a yen-denominated security from a decline in the yen, but will not protect a Fund against a price decline resulting from deterioration in the issuer's creditworthiness. Because the value of a Fund's foreign-denominated investments changes in response to many factors other than exchange rates, it may not be possible to match the amount of currency options and futures to the value of a Fund's investments exactly over time.

ASSET COVERAGE FOR FUTURES AND OPTIONS POSITIONS

Each Fund will comply with guidelines established by the Securities and Exchange Commission with respect to coverage of options and futures strategies by mutual funds, and if the guidelines so require will set aside appropriate liquid assets in a segregated custodial account in the amount prescribed. Securities held in a segregated account cannot be sold while the futures or option strategy is outstanding, unless they are replaced with other suitable assets. As a result, there is a possibility that segregation of a large percentage of a Fund's assets could impede portfolio management or a Fund's ability to meet redemption requests or other current obligations.

INVESTMENT RESTRICTIONS

As indicated in the Prospectus, each Fund is subject to certain policies and restrictions which are "fundamental" and may not be changed without shareholder approval. Shareholder approval consists of the approval of the lesser of (i) more than 50% of the outstanding voting securities of a Fund, or (ii) 67% or more of the voting securities present at a meeting if the holders of more than 50% of the outstanding voting securities of a Fund are present or represented by proxy. Limitations 1 through 8 below are deemed fundamental limitations. The remaining limitations set forth below serve as operating policies of each Fund and may be changed by the Board of Directors without shareholder approval.

Each Fund may not:

1. PURCHASE THE SECURITIES OF ANY ISSUER IF SUCH PURCHASE WOULD CAUSE THE FUND TO FAIL TO MEET THE REQUIREMENTS OF A "DIVERSIFIED COMPANY" AS DEFINED UNDER THE INVESTMENT COMPANY ACT OF 1940, AS AMENDED (THE "1940 ACT").

AS CURRENTLY DEFINED IN THE 1940 ACT, DIVERSIFIED COMPANY MEANS A MANAGEMENT COMPANY WHICH MEETS THE FOLLOWING REQUIREMENTS: AT LEAST 75% OF THE VALUE OF ITS TOTAL ASSETS IS REPRESENTED BY CASH AND CASH ITEMS (INCLUDING RECEIVABLES), GOVERNMENT SECURITIES, SECURITIES OF OTHER INVESTMENT COMPANIES AND OTHER SECURITIES FOR THE PURPOSES OF THIS CALCULATION LIMITED IN RESPECT OF ANY ONE ISSUER TO AN AMOUNT NOT GREATER IN VALUE THAN 5% OF THE VALUE OF THE TOTAL ASSETS OF SUCH MANAGEMENT COMPANY AND NOT MORE THAN 10% OF THE OUTSTANDING VOTING SECURITIES OF SUCH ISSUER.

2. PURCHASE THE SECURITIES OF ANY ISSUER (OTHER THAN "GOVERNMENT SECURITIES" AS DEFINED UNDER THE 1940 ACT) IF, AS A RESULT, MORE THAN 25% OF THE VALUE OF THE FUND'S TOTAL ASSETS WOULD BE INVESTED IN THE SECURITIES OF COMPANIES WHOSE PRINCIPAL BUSINESS ACTIVITIES ARE IN THE SAME INDUSTRY.

3. ISSUE ANY SENIOR SECURITIES, EXCEPT AS PERMITTED BY THE 1940 ACT OR THE RULES AND REGULATIONS OF THE SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION.

4. BORROW MONEY, EXCEPT FROM BANKS FOR TEMPORARY OR EMERGENCY PURPOSES PROVIDED THAT SUCH BORROWINGS MAY NOT EXCEED 33-1/3% OF THE VALUE OF THE FUND'S NET ASSETS (INCLUDING THE AMOUNT BORROWED). ANY BORROWINGS THAT COME TO EXCEED THIS AMOUNT WILL BE REDUCED WITHIN THREE DAYS (NOT INCLUDING SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS) TO THE EXTENT NECESSARY TO COMPLY WITH THE 33-1/3% LIMITATION. THIS LIMITATION SHALL NOT PROHIBIT THE FUND FROM ENGAGING IN REVERSE REPURCHASE AGREEMENTS, MAKING DEPOSITS OF ASSETS TO MARGIN OR GUARANTEE POSITIONS IN FUTURES, OPTIONS, SWAPS OR FORWARD CONTRACTS, OR SEGREGATING ASSETS IN CONNECTION WITH SUCH AGREEMENTS OR CONTRACTS.

5. ACT AS AN UNDERWRITER OF SECURITIES OF OTHER ISSUERS, EXCEPT TO THE EXTENT THAT IN CONNECTION WITH THE DISPOSITION OF PORTFOLIO SECURITIES THE FUND MAY BE DEEMED TO BE AN UNDERWRITER UNDER APPLICABLE LAWS.

6. PURCHASE OR SELL REAL ESTATE UNLESS ACQUIRED AS A RESULT OF OWNERSHIP OF SECURITIES OR OTHER INSTRUMENTS. THIS RESTRICTION SHALL NOT PREVENT THE FUND FROM INVESTING IN SECURITIES OR OTHER INSTRUMENTS BACKED BY REAL ESTATE OR SECURITIES OF COMPANIES ENGAGED IN THE REAL ESTATE BUSINESS.

7. PURCHASE OR SELL COMMODITIES OTHER THAN FOREIGN CURRENCIES UNLESS ACQUIRED AS A RESULT OF OWNERSHIP OF SECURITIES. THIS LIMITATION SHALL NOT PREVENT THE FUND FROM PURCHASING OR SELLING OPTIONS, FUTURES, SWAPS AND FORWARD CONTRACTS OR FROM INVESTING IN SECURITIES OR OTHER INSTRUMENTS BACKED BY COMMODITIES.

8. MAKE LOANS TO OTHER PERSONS EXCEPT TO THE EXTENT NOT INCONSISTENT WITH THE 1940 ACT OR THE RULES AND REGULATIONS OF THE SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION. THIS LIMITATION DOES NOT APPLY TO PURCHASES OF COMMERCIAL PAPER, DEBT SECURITIES OR REPURCHASE AGREEMENTS, OR TO THE LENDING OF PORTFOLIO SECURITIES.

9. PURCHASE SECURITIES ON MARGIN, EXCEPT THAT THE FUND MAY OBTAIN SUCH SHORT-TERM CREDITS AS MAY BE NECESSARY FOR THE CLEARANCE OF PURCHASES OR SALES OF SECURITIES AND PROVIDED THAT MARGIN PAYMENTS IN CONNECTION WITH TRANSACTIONS IN OPTIONS, FUTURES, SWAPS AND FORWARD CONTRACTS SHALL NOT BE DEEMED TO CONSTITUTE PURCHASING SECURITIES ON MARGIN.

10. SELL SECURITIES SHORT, UNLESS IT OWNS OR HAS THE RIGHT TO OBTAIN SECURITIES EQUIVALENT IN KIND AND AMOUNT TO THE SECURITIES SOLD SHORT, AND PROVIDED THAT TRANSACTIONS IN OPTIONS, SWAPS AND FORWARD FUTURES CONTRACTS ARE NOT DEEMED TO CONSTITUTE SELLING SECURITIES SHORT.

11. EXCEPT AS PART OF A MERGER, CONSOLIDATION, ACQUISITION, OR REORGANIZATION, INVEST MORE THAN 5% OF THE VALUE OF ITS TOTAL ASSETS IN THE SECURITIES OF ANY ONE INVESTMENT COMPANY OR MORE THAN 10% OF THE VALUE OF ITS TOTAL ASSETS, IN THE AGGREGATE, IN THE SECURITIES OF TWO OR MORE INVESTMENT COMPANIES, OR ACQUIRE MORE THAN 3% OF THE TOTAL OUTSTANDING VOTING SECURITIES OF ANY ONE INVESTMENT COMPANY.

12. MORTGAGE, PLEDGE OR HYPOTHECATE ITS ASSETS EXCEPT TO THE EXTENT NECESSARY TO SECURE PERMITTED BORROWINGS. THIS LIMITATION DOES NOT APPLY TO REVERSE REPURCHASE AGREEMENTS OR IN THE CASE OF ASSETS DEPOSITED TO MARGIN OR GUARANTEE POSITIONS IN FUTURES, OPTIONS, SWAPS OR FORWARD CONTRACTS OR PLACED IN A SEGREGATED ACCOUNT IN CONNECTION WITH SUCH CONTRACTS.

13. PARTICIPATE ON A JOINT OR A JOINT AND SEVERAL BASIS IN ANY SECURITIES TRADING ACCOUNT.

14. INVEST MORE THAN 15% OF ITS NET ASSETS IN ILLIQUID INVESTMENTS.

15. INVEST DIRECTLY IN INTERESTS (INCLUDING PARTNERSHIP INTERESTS) IN OIL, GAS OR OTHER MINERAL EXPLORATION OR DEVELOPMENT LEASES OR PROGRAMS, EXCEPT THE FUND MAY PURCHASE OR SELL SECURITIES ISSUED BY CORPORATIONS ENGAGING IN OIL, GAS OR OTHER MINERAL EXPLORATION OR DEVELOPMENT BUSINESS.

ANY OF A FUND'S INVESTMENT POLICIES SET FORTH UNDER "INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND POLICIES" IN THE PROSPECTUS, OR ANY RESTRICTION SET FORTH ABOVE UNDER "INVESTMENT RESTRICTIONS" WHICH INVOLVES A MAXIMUM PERCENTAGE OF SECURITIES OR ASSETS SHALL NOT BE CONSIDERED TO BE VIOLATED UNLESS AN EXCESS OVER THE PERCENTAGE OCCURS IMMEDIATELY AFTER AN ACQUISITION OF SECURITIES OR UTILIZATION OF ASSETS AND RESULTS THEREFROM.

The average annual total returns of Emerging Growth Fund for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1995 and from inception through March 31, 1995 were 10.23% and 18.32%, respectively.

The average annual total returns of Growth Fund for the twelve-month period ending March 31, 1995 and from inception through March 31, 1995 were 13.31% and 5.89%, respectively.

The average annual total returns of Growth and Income Fund for the one, five and ten year periods ended March 31, 1995 were 8.92%, 7.58%, and 11.85%, respectively.

The average annual total returns of Midcap Growth Fund for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1995 and from inception through March 31, 1995 were 17.63% and 17.88%, respectively.

The average annual total returns of Regional Fund for the one, five and ten year periods ended March 31, 1995 were 10.35%, 10.43% and 15.36%, respectively.

The average annual total returns of Value Fund for the one, five and ten year periods ended March 31, 1995 were 3.88%, 8.18% and 10.73%, respectively.

In advertising and sales literature, each Fund may compare its performance with that of other mutual funds, indexes or averages of other mutual funds, indexes of related financial assets or data, and other competing investment and deposit products available from or through other financial institutions. The composition of these indexes, averages or products differs from that of a Fund. The comparison of a Fund to an alternative investment should be made with consideration of differences in features and expected performance.

The indexes and averages noted below will be obtained from the indicated sources or reporting services, which the Fund believes to be generally accurate. Each Fund may also note its mention in newspapers, magazines, or other media from time to time. However, such Fund assumes no responsibility for the accuracy of such data.

For example, (1) a Fund's performance or P/E ratio may be compared to any one or a combination of the following: (i) the Standard & Poor's 500 Stock Index and Dow Jones Industrial Average so that you may compare the Fund's results with those of a group of unmanaged securities widely regarded by investors as representative of the U.S. stock market in general; (ii) other groups of mutual funds, including the IAI Funds, tracked by: (A) Lipper Analytical Services, Inc., a widely used independent research firm which ranks mutual funds by overall performance, investment objectives, and assets; (B) Morningstar, Inc., another widely used independent research firm which rates mutual funds; or (C) other financial or business publications, which may include, but are not limited to, Business Week, Money Magazine, Forbes and Barron's, which provide similar information; (iii) the Value Line Index and the Standard & Poor's Value Index; (iv) the Callan Midcap Index, the Russell Midcap Index and the Standard & Poor's Midcap Index; (v) the Russell 2500 Index, the Russell 2000 Growth Index and the Russell 1000 Growth Index; (vi) the Standard & Poor's Growth Index; and (vii) the performance of U.S. government and corporate bonds, notes and bills. (The purpose of these comparisons would be to illustrate historical trends in different market sectors so as to allow potential investors to compare different investment strategies.); (2) the Consumer Price Index (measure for inflation) may be used to assess the real rate of return from an investment in a Fund; (3) other U.S. or foreign government statistics such as GNP, and net import and export figures derived from governmental publications, e.g., The Survey of Current Business, may be used to illustrate investment attributes of a Fund or the general economic business, investment, or financial environment in which such Fund operates; (4) the effect of tax-deferred compounding on a Fund's investment returns, or on returns in general, may be illustrated by graphs, charts, etc. where such graphs or charts would compare, at various points in time, the return from an investment in such Fund (or returns in general) on a tax-deferred basis (assuming reinvestment of capital gains and dividends and assuming one or more tax rates) with the return on a taxable basis; and (5) the sectors or industries in which a Fund invests may be compared to relevant indices or surveys (e.g., S&P Industry Surveys) in order to evaluate a Fund's historical performance or current or potential value with respect to the particular industry or sector.

Each Fund has agreed to reduced initial subscription requirements for employees and directors of a Fund or IAI, their spouses, children and grandchildren. With respect to such persons, the minimum initial investment in one or more of the IAI Family of Funds is $500; provided that the minimum amount that can be allocated to any one of the Funds is $250. Subsequent subscriptions are limited to a minimum of $100 for each of the Funds.

No compensation is paid by a Fund to any of its officers. Directors who are not affiliated with IAI receive from each Fund $300 annually, $250 for each Board meeting attended, $200 for each Restricted Securities Committee meeting attended (if applicable) and $200 for each Audit Committee meeting attended. Such unaffiliated directors also are reimbursed for expenses incurred in connection with attending meetings.

The Board of Directors for each of the Funds, at a meeting held May 10, 1995, approved a new Code of Ethics. The Code permits access persons to engage in personal securities transactions subject to certain policies and procedures. Such procedures prohibit the acquiring of any securities in an initial public offering. In addition, all securities acquired through private placement must be pre-cleared. Procedures have been adopted which implement blackout periods for certain securities transactions, as well as a ban on short-term trading profits. Additional policies prohibit the receipt of gifts in certain instances. Procedures have been implemented to monitor employee trading. Access persons of the Adviser are required to certify annually that they have read and understood the Code of Ethics. An annual report is provided to the Funds' Board of Directors summarizing existing procedures, identifying material violations and recommending any changes needed.

IAI, the Fund's investment adviser, is an affiliate of the Hill Samuel Group ("Hill Samuel"). Hill Samuel is an international merchant banking and financial services firm headquartered in London, England. Hill Samuel owns controlling interests in over seventy insurance, merchant banking, financial services and shipping services subsidiaries located in Western Europe, Asia, the United States, Australia, New Zealand and Great Britain. The principal offices of Hill Samuel are located at 100 Wood Street, London EC2 P2AJ.

Hill Samuel is owned by TSB Group, plc ("TSB"), a publicly-held financial services organization headquartered in London, England. TSB is one of the largest personal and corporate financial services groups in the United Kingdom, engaged in a wide range of activities including banking, unit linked life assurance, unit trust management, investment management, credit card and finance house business. The principal offices of TSB are located at 25 Milk Street, London EC2 V8LU.

INVESTMENT ADVISORY AGREEMENTS

Pursuant to an Investment Advisory Agreement between each Fund and IAI (the "Advisory Agreement"), IAI has agreed to provide each Fund with investment advice, statistical and research facilities, and certain equipment and services, including, but not limited to, office space and necessary office facilities, equipment, and the services of required personnel. Under the Advisory Agreements, IAI has the sole authority and responsibility to make and execute investment decisions for each Fund within the framework of the Fund's investment policies, subject to review by the directors of each Fund.

As compensation for these services, each Fund has agreed to pay IAI a monthly fee equivalent on an annual basis to .75% of its average month-end net assets. This percentage fee declines as a Fund's asset size increases. The following table sets forth the fees which IAI receives from each Fund, as a percentage of average month-end net assets.

 For the period from April 6, 1992 (commencement of operations) through March 31, 1993.

Each Fund's monthly payment of the advisory fee is suspended or reduced (and reimbursement made by IAI, if necessary) when it appears that the amount of expenses may exceed such Fund's applicable expense limit (and after the monthly payment of the distribution fee has been reduced to zero), as set forth in the section "Allocation of Expenses," below.

Pursuant to the expense limits, IAI has reimbursed advisory fees to the following Funds for the fiscal years or periods noted: Growth Fund, for the fiscal period August 6, 1993 to July 31, 1994 -- $29,939; Midcap Growth Fund, for the fiscal period April 6, 1992 through March 31, 1993 -- $3,893, and for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1994 -- $11,397; and Value Fund, for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1994 -- $38,260.

ADMINISTRATIVE AGREEMENT

Each Fund has engaged IAI to serve as the Fund's administrative, dividend disbursing, redemption, accounting services and transfer agent pursuant to an Administrative Agreement. Under the Administrative Agreement, IAI has agreed to provide to each Fund all required administrative, stock transfer, redemption, dividend disbursing and accounting services including, without limitation, the following: (1) the maintenance of accounts, books and records; (2) the calculations of the daily net asset value in accordance with a Fund's current Prospectus and Statement of Additional Information; (3) daily and periodic reports; (4) all information necessary to complete tax returns, questionnaires and other reports requested by a Fund; (5) the maintenance of stock registry records; (6) the processing of requested account registration changes, stock certificate issuances and redemption requests; and (7) the administration of payments of dividends and distributions declared by a Fund. As compensation for these services, each Fund has agreed to pay IAI a monthly fee equal to .01667% of the value of such Fund's net assets on the last day of the month, which is equivalent on an annual basis to .20% of a Fund's average month-end net assets.

Pursuant to the Administrative Agreements for the fiscal year (or period) ended March 31, 1995, each Fund paid IAI the following fees:

ALLOCATION OF EXPENSES

In addition to the advisory and administrative fees paid to IAI, each Fund pays all its other costs and expenses, including, for example, costs incurred in the purchase and sale of assets, interest, taxes, charges of the custodian of a Fund's assets, costs of reports and proxy material sent to Fund shareholders, fees paid for independent accounting and legal services, costs of printing Prospectuses for Fund shareholders and registering a Fund's shares, postage, fees to directors who are not "interested persons" of a Fund, distribution expenses pursuant to the Fund's Rule 12b-1 plan, insurance premiums, costs of attending investment conferences and such other costs which may be designated as extraordinary. IAI has agreed to reimburse each Fund for expenses (other than brokerage commissions and other expenditures in connection with the purchase and sale of portfolio securities, interest expense, and, subject to the specific approval of a majority of the disinterested directors of a Fund, taxes and extraordinary expenses) which exceed 1.25% per year of the average month-end net assets of a Fund (the "expense limit"). Certain state securities commissions may impose additional limitations on certain of a Fund's expenses, and IAI may be required by such state commissions to reimburse a Fund for expenses in excess of any limitations as a requirement to selling shares of such Fund in those states. IAI is not liable for any loss suffered by a Fund in the absence of willful misfeasance, bad faith or gross negligence in the performance of its duties and obligations.

DURATION OF AGREEMENTS

The Advisory Agreements and the Administrative Agreements will terminate automatically in the event of their assignment. In addition, each Agreement is terminable at any time without penalty by the Board of Directors of a Fund or by vote of a majority of a Fund's outstanding voting securities on not more than 60 days' written notice to IAI, and by IAI on 60 days' notice to a Fund. Each Agreement shall continue in effect from year to year only so long as such continuance is specifically approved at least annually by either the Board of Directors of a Fund or by vote of a majority of the outstanding voting securities, provided that in either event such continuance is also approved by the vote of a majority of directors who are not parties to the Agreement or interested persons of such parties cast in person at a meeting called for the purpose of voting on such approval.

PLAN OF DISTRIBUTION

Each Fund has adopted a Plan of Distribution relating to the payment of certain distribution expenses pursuant to Rule 12b-1 under the 1940 Act (Rule 12b-1 Fees). Such Plans were last approved by the Funds Board of Directors at a meeting on May 10, 1995. The shareholders of Emerging Growth, Growth and Income, Midcap Growth and Value Funds last approved the Plans on June 25, 1993. The shareholders of Regional Fund last approved the Plan on June 28, 1993.

Rule 12b-1(b) provides that any payments made by a fund in connection with the distribution of its shares may only be made pursuant to a written plan describing all material aspects of the proposed financing of distribution and also requires that all agreements with any person relating to implementation of the plan must be in writing. In addition, Rule 12b-1(b) (1) requires that such plan be approved by a vote of at least a majority of the fund's outstanding shares, and Rule 12b-1(b) (2) requires that such plan, together with any related agreements, be approved by a vote of the board of directors of the company and the directors of the company who are not interested persons of the company and have no direct or indirect financial interest in the operation of the plan or in any agreements related to the plan, cast in person at a meeting called for the purpose of voting on such plan or agreements. Rule 12b-1(b) (3) requires that the plan or agreement provide, in substance: (1) that it shall continue in effect for a period of more than one year from the date of its execution or adoption only so long as such continuance is specifically approved at least annually in the manner described in paragraph (b) (2) of Rule 12b-1; (2) that any person authorized to direct the disposition of monies paid or payable by a fund pursuant to its plan or any related agreement shall provide to a fund's board of directors, and the directors shall review, at least quarterly, a written report of the amount so expended and the purposes for which such expenditures were made; and (3) in the case of a plan, that it may be terminated at any time by vote of a majority of the members of the board of directors of a fund who are not interested persons of the fund and have no direct or indirect financial interest in the operation of the plan or in any agreements related to the plan or by vote of a majority of the outstanding voting securities of a fund.

Rule 12b-1(b) (4) requires that such plans may not be amended to increase materially the amount to be spent for distribution without shareholder approval and that all material amendments of the plan must be approved in the manner described in paragraph (b) (2) of Rule 12b-1. Rule 12b-1(c) provides that a fund may rely upon Rule 12b-1(1) only if selection and nomination of its disinterested directors are committed to the discretion of such disinterested directors. Rule 12b-1(e) provides that a fund may implement or continue a plan pursuant to Rule 12b-1(b) only if the directors who vote to approve such implementation or continuation conclude, in the exercise of reasonable business judgment and in light of their fiduciary duties under state law, and under Section 36(a) and (b) of the 1940 Act, that there is a reasonable likelihood that the plan will benefit the fund and its shareholders. At the meeting of the Board of Directors on May 10, 1995, the directors so concluded with respect to each Fund's Plan of Distribution.

Pursuant to the Plan of Distribution, each Fund has entered into a Distribution and Shareholder Services Agreement pursuant to which a Fund will make payments to IAI Securities, Inc. ("IAIS") at an annual rate of 0.25% of a Fund's average month-end net assets to cover expenses incurred by IAIS in connection with the servicing of shareholder accounts and the distribution of such Fund's shares (which amount is paid to IAIS regardless of amounts spent by IAIS). The 12b-1 Fee payable by a Fund to IAIS may be used by IAIS to pay advertising and promotional expenses including, without limitation, costs of printing and providing Prospectuses, Statements of Additional Information, annual reports and semiannual reports to prospective shareholders, expenses of preparing and providing sales literature advertising of any type, and compensation and benefits paid to and expenses incurred by personnel, including supervisory personnel, involved in direct mail and advertising activities and activities relating to the direct marketing of shares of the Fund to the public and compensation to other broker-dealers for their sale of Fund shares. The Rule 12b-1 Fee may also be used to compensate the Underwriter for the provision of certain services to Fund shareholders. Such services may include answering shareholder questions, providing reports and other information and other services designed to maintain shareholder accounts. IAIS may use the Rule 12b-1 Fee to make payments to qualifying broker-dealers and financial institutions that provide such shareholder services.

The Rule 12b-1 Fee payable by each Fund is subject to the expense limitations set forth in the Advisory Agreements as described above. Additionally, IAIS, in its sole and absolute discretion, may from time to time out of its own assets pay for certain additional costs of servicing shareholder accounts and distributing a Fund's shares. IAIS is an affiliate of IAI.

The net Rule 12b-1 Fee paid by each Fund pursuant to its Plan of Distribution during the fiscal year (or period) ended March 31, 1995 follows:

PORTFOLIO TRANSACTIONS AND ALLOCATION OF BROKERAGE

Most of a Fund's portfolio transactions are effected with dealers without the payment of brokerage commissions but at a net price which usually includes a spread or markup. In effecting such portfolio transactions on behalf of a Fund, IAI seeks the most favorable net price consistent with the best execution.

Generally, however, a Fund must deal with brokers. IAI selects and (where applicable) negotiates commissions with the brokers who execute the transactions for such Fund. The primary criteria for the selection of a broker is the ability of the broker, in the opinion of IAI, to secure prompt execution of the transactions on favorable terms, including the reasonableness of the commission and considering the state of the market at the time. In selecting a broker, IAI may consider whether such broker provides brokerage and research services (as defined in the Securities Exchange Act of 1934). IAI may direct Fund transactions to brokers who furnish research services to IAI. Such research services include advice, both directly and in writing, as to the value of securities, the advisability of investing in, purchasing or selling securities, and the availability of securities or purchasers or sellers of securities, as well as analyses and reports concerning issues, industries, securities, economic factors and trends, portfolio strategy, and the performance of accounts. By allocating brokerage business in order to obtain research services for IAI, a Fund enables IAI to supplement its own investment research activities and allows IAI to obtain the views and information of individuals and research staffs of many different securities research firms prior to making investment decisions for a Fund. To the extent such commissions are directed to brokers who furnish research services to IAI, IAI receives a benefit, not capable of evaluation in dollar amounts, without providing any direct monetary benefit to a Fund from these commissions. Generally a Fund pays higher than the lowest commission rates available.

IAI believes that most research services obtained by it generally benefit one or more of the investment companies or other accounts which it manages. Normally research services obtained through commissions paid by the managed fund investing in common stocks and managed accounts investing in common stocks would primarily benefit the fund and accounts.

There is no formula for the allocation by IAI of each Fund's brokerage business to any broker-dealers for brokerage and research services. However, IAI will authorize a Fund to pay an amount of commission for effecting a securities transaction in excess of the amount of commission another broker would have charged only if IAI determines in good faith that such amount of commission is reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services provided by such broker viewed in terms of either that particular transaction or IAI's overall responsibilities with respect to the accounts as to which it exercises investment discretion.

Although investment decisions for a Fund are made independently from other accounts as to which IAI gives investment advice, it may occasionally develop that the same security is suitable for more than one account. If and when more than one account simultaneously purchase or sell the same security, the transactions will be averaged as to price and allocated as to amount in accordance with arrangements equitable to each Fund and such accounts. The simultaneous purchase or sale of the same securities by a Fund and other accounts may have detrimental effects on a Fund, as they may affect the price paid or received by a Fund or the size of the position obtainable by a Fund.

Consistent with the Rules of Fair Practice of the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. and subject to the policies set forth in the preceding paragraphs and such other policies as the Board of Directors of the Fund may determine, IAI may consider sales of shares of a Fund as a factor in the selection of broker-dealers to execute the Fund's securities transactions.

Brokerage commissions, listed below, were paid by each Fund for the fiscal year (or period) ended March 31, 1995. During that period, a percentage of commissions were paid to brokerage firms that provided research services to IAI, although the provision of such services was not necessarily a factor in the placement of all such business with such firms.

NET ASSET VALUE AND PUBLIC OFFERING PRICE

The portfolio securities in which each Fund invests fluctuate in value, and hence, for each Fund, the net asset value per share also fluctuates.

The net asset value per share of a Fund is determined once daily as of the close of trading on the New York Stock Exchange on each business day on which the New York Stock Exchange is open for trading, and may be determined on additional days as required by the Rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission. The New York Stock Exchange is closed, and the net asset value per share of the Fund is not determined, on the following national holidays: New Year's Day, Presidents' Day, Good Friday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas Day.

On March 31, 1995, each Funds net asset value and public offering price per share were calculated as follows:

Emerging Growth Fund

NAV = Net Assets ($342,873,905) = $15.83

Shares Outstanding (21,654,161)

Growth Fund

NAV = Net Assets ($26,793,763) = $10.95

Shares Outstanding (2,447,689)

Growth and Income Fund

NAV = Net Assets ($101,255,839) = $14.32

Shares Outstanding (7,072,342)

Midcap Growth Fund

NAV = Net Assets ($88,075,447) = $15.35

Shares Outstanding (5,736,230)

Regional Fund

NAV = Net Assets ($523,364,230) = $21.56

Shares Outstanding (24,272,468)

Value Fund

NAV = Net Assets ($40,600,954) = $11.17

Shares Outstanding (3,636,130)

TAX STATUS

The tax status of the Funds and the distributions of the Fund are summarized in the Prospectus under "Dividends, Distributions and Tax Status."

Under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, (the Code), individual shareholders may not exclude any amount of distributions from Fund gross income that is derived from dividends; corporate shareholders, however, are permitted to deduct 70% of qualifying dividend distributions from domestic corporations. Such a deduction by a corporate shareholder will depend upon the portion of the Funds gross income that is derived from dividends received from domestic corporations. Since it is anticipated that a portion of the net investment income of the Fund may derive from sources other than dividends from domestic corporations, a portion of the Funds dividends may not qualify for this exclusion. Distributions designated as long-term capital gain distributions will be taxable to the shareholder as long-term capital gains regardless of how long the shareholder has held the shares. Such distributions will not be eligible for the dividends received exclusion referred to above.

Ordinarily, distributions and redemption proceeds earned by Fund shareholders are not subject to withholding of federal income tax. However, each Fund is required to withhold 31% of a shareholder's distributions and redemption proceeds upon the occurrence of certain events specified in Section 3406 of the Code and regulations promulgated thereunder. These events include the failure of a Fund shareholder to supply the Fund with such shareholder's taxpayer identification number, and the failure of a Fund shareholder who is otherwise exempt from withholding to properly document such shareholder's status as an exempt recipient. Additionally, distributions may be subject to state and local income taxes, and the treatment thereunder may differ from the federal income tax consequences discussed above.

If Fund shares are sold or otherwise disposed of more than one year from the date of acquisition, the difference between the price paid for the shares and the sales price will result in long-term capital gain or loss to a Fund shareholder if, as is usually the case, a Fund shares are a capital asset in the hands of a Fund shareholder at that time. However, under a special provision in the Code, if Fund shares with respect to which a long-term capital gain distribution has been, or will be, made are held for six months or less, any loss on the sale or other disposition of such shares will be long-term capital loss to the extent of such distribution.

Under the Code, each Fund will be subject to a non-deductible excise tax equal to 4% of the excess, if any, of the amount of investment income and capital gains required to be distributed pursuant to the Code for each calendar year over the amount actually distributed. In order to avoid this excise tax, each Fund generally must declare dividends by the end of each calendar year representing 98% of the Fund's ordinary income for such calendar year and 98% of its capital gain net income, if any, for the twelve-month period ending October 31 of the same calendar year. The excise tax is not imposed, however, an undistributed income that is already subject to corporate income tax. It is each Funds policy not to distribute capital gains until capital loss carryovers, if any, either are utilized or expire.

Income received from sources within foreign countries may be subject to withholding and other taxes imposed by such countries. Tax conventions between certain countries and the United States may reduce or eliminate such taxes. It is impossible to determine the effective rate of foreign tax applicable to such income in advance since the precise amount of a Fund's assets to be invested in various countries is not known. Any amount of taxes paid by a Fund to foreign countries will reduce the amount of income available to a Fund for distributions to shareholders.

The foregoing is a general and abbreviated summary of the Code and Treasury regulations in effect as of the date of each Fund's Prospectus and this Statement of Additional Information. The foregoing relates solely to the federal income tax law applicable to "U.S. persons," i.e., U.S. citizens and residents and U.S. domestic corporations, partnerships, trusts and estates. Shareholders who are not U.S. persons are encouraged to consult a tax adviser regarding the income tax consequences of acquiring shares of a Fund.

LIMITATION OF DIRECTOR LIABILITY

Under Minnesota law, each Fund's Board of Directors owes certain fiduciary duties to the Fund and to its shareholders. Minnesota law provides that a director "shall discharge the duties of the position of director in good faith, in a manner the director reasonably believes to be in the best interest of the corporation, and with the care an ordinarily prudent person in a like position would exercise under similar circumstances." Fiduciary duties of a director of a Minnesota corporation include, therefore, both a duty of "loyalty" (to act in good faith and act in a manner reasonably believed to be in the best interests of the corporation) and a duty of "care" (to act with the care an ordinarily prudent person in a like position would exercise under similar circumstances). Minnesota law authorizes corporations to eliminate or limit the personal liability of a director to the corporation or its shareholders for monetary damages for breach of the fiduciary duty of "care." Minnesota law does not, however, permit a corporation to eliminate or limit the liability of a director (i) for any breach of the director's duty of "loyalty" to the corporation or its shareholders, (ii) for acts or omissions not in good faith or that involve intentional misconduct or a knowing violation of law, (iii) for authorizing a dividend, stock repurchase or redemption or other distribution in violation of Minnesota law or for violation of certain provisions of Minnesota securities laws, or (iv) for any transaction from which the director derived an improper personal benefit. The Articles of Incorporation of IAI Investment Funds II, Inc., IAI Investment Funds IV, Inc., IAI Investment Funds VI, Inc., IAI Investment Funds VII, Inc., and IAI Investment Funds VIII, Inc., limit the liability of directors to the fullest extent permitted by Minnesota statutes, except to the extent that such liability cannot be limited as provided in the Investment Company Act of 1940 (which Act prohibits any provisions which purport to limit the liability of directors arising from such directors' willful misfeasance, bad faith, gross negligence, or reckless disregard of the duties involved in the conduct of their role as directors).

Minnesota law does not eliminate the duty of "care" imposed upon a director. It only authorizes a corporation to eliminate monetary liability for violations of that duty. Minnesota law, further, does not permit elimination or limitation of liability of "officers" of the corporation for breach of their duties as officers (including the liability of directors who serve as officers for breach of their duties as officers.) Minnesota law does not permit elimination or limitation of the availability of equitable relief, such as injunctive or rescissionary relief. Further, Minnesota law does not permit elimination or limitation of a director's liability under the Securities Act of 1933 or the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, and it is uncertain whether and to what extent the elimination of monetary liability would extend to violations of duties imposed on directors by the Investment Company Act of 1940 and the rules and regulations adopted under such Act.

DISTRIBUTION AND SHAREHOLDER SERVICES AGREEMENT

THIS AGREEMENT is made this 10 day of May, 1995, by and between IAI Investment Funds VIII, Inc., a Minnesota corporation (the "Corporation"), on behalf of each portfolio represented by a series of shares of common stock of the Corporation (the "Portfolios") set forth in Exhibit A hereto, as supplemented from time to time, and IAI Securities, Inc., a Minnesota corporation ("Securities").

1. DISTRIBUTION AND SHAREHOLDER SERVICES.

The Corporation hereby engages Securities, and Securities hereby agrees to act, as principal underwriter for the Corporation in connection with the sale and distribution of Portfolio shares to the public. Securities agrees to offer such shares for sale at all times when such shares are available for sale and may lawfully be offered for sale and sold. Securities, or others retained by it, may also provide shareholder services, as described in the Corporation's Plan of Distribution.

2. SALE OF PORTFOLIO SHARES.

Portfolio shares are to be sold only on the following terms:

(a) All subscriptions, offers or sales shall be subject to acceptance or rejection by the Corporation. Any offer or sale shall be conclusively presumed to have been accepted by the Corporation if the Corporation shall fail to notify Securities of the rejection of such offer or sale prior to the computation of the net asset value of the respective Portfolio's shares next following receipt by the Corporation of notice of such offer or sale.

(b) Portfolio shares shall not be sold by Securities for an amount less than the net asset value of such shares. No such shares shall be sold by Securities for any consideration other than cash or, pursuant to an exchange privilege provided for by the currently effective Prospectus of the respective Portfolio, shares of any other investment company for which Securities act as principal underwriter.

3. REGISTRATION OF SHARES.

The Corporation agrees to make prompt and reasonable efforts to effect and keep in effect, at its own expense, the registration or qualification of the shares of each Portfolio for sale in such jurisdiction as the Corporation may designate.

4. INFORMATION TO BE FURNISHED TO SECURITIES.

The Corporation agrees that it will furnish Securities with such information with respect to the affairs and accounts of the Corporation and the Portfolios as Securities may from time to time reasonably require and further agrees that Securities, at all reasonable times, shall be permitted to inspect the books and records of the Corporation.

5. ALLOCATION OF EXPENSES.

During the period of this contract, the Corporation, on behalf of each Portfolio shall pay or cause to be paid all expenses, costs and fees which are not assumed by Securities or Investment Advisers, Inc. ("Advisers"). Securities shall pay all promotional expenses in connection with the distribution of Portfolio shares including paying for prospectuses and shareholder reports for new shareholders and the costs of sales literature. Securities shall pay all expenses which it incurs in connection with providing shareholder services. Advisers, rather than Securities, may bear the expenses referred to in the above two sentences, but Securities shall be primarily liable for such expenses until paid.

6. COMPENSATION TO SECURITIES.

As compensation for all of its services and its costs assumed under this contract, the Corporation, on behalf of each Portfolio, shall pay Securities a monthly fee based upon the average net assets of the Portfolios as set forth in Exhibit A hereto, as supplemented from time to time.

Securities hereby agrees to waive a portion or all of the monthly fee with respect to each Portfolio to the extent that the expenses for such Portfolio exceeds its expense limitation referenced in Part Three of the Investment Advisory Agreement between the Corporation and Advisers.

The monthly distribution fee paid by each Portfolio shall be used by Securities for the purposes of financing any activity which is primarily intended to result in the sale of such Portfolio's shares as set forth in a written plan and in any related agreements which shall comply with Rule 12b-1 under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as such rule may be periodically amended.

7. LIMITATION OF SECURITIES' AUTHORITY.

Securities shall be deemed to be an independent contractor and, except as specifically provided or authorized herein, shall have no authority to act for or represent the Corporation or any Portfolio. In connection with its role as underwriter of Portfolio shares, Securities shall at all times be deemed an agent of the Corporation and shall sell such shares to purchasers thereof as agent and not as principal.

8. SUBSCRIPTION FOR SHARES--REFUND FOR CANCELED ORDERS.

Securities shall effect the subscription of Portfolio shares as agent for the Corporation. In the event that an order for the purchase of Portfolio shares is placed with Securities by a customer and subsequently canceled, Securities, on behalf of such customer or dealer, shall forthwith cancel the subscription for such shares entered on the books of the Corporation, and if Securities has paid the Corporation for such shares, shall be entitled to receive from the Corporation in refund of such payment the lesser of:

(a) the consideration received by the Corporation for said shares; and

(b) the net asset value of such shares at the time of cancellation by Securities.

9. INDEMNIFICATION OF THE CORPORATION.

Securities agrees to indemnify the Corporation against any and all litigation and other legal proceedings of any kind or nature and against any liability, judgment, cost or penalty imposed as a result of such litigation or proceedings in any way arising out of or in connection with the sale or distribution of Portfolio shares by Securities. In the event of the threat or institution of any such litigation or legal proceedings against the Corporation, Securities shall defend such action on behalf of the Corporation at its own expense, and shall pay any such liability, judgment, cost or penalty resulting therefrom whether imposed by legal authority or agreed upon by way of compromise and settlement; provided, however, Securities shall not be required to pay or reimburse the Corporation for any liability, judgment, cost or penalty incurred as a result of information supplied by, or as the result of the omission to supply information by, the Corporation to Securities, or to Securities by a director, officer, or employee of the Corporation who is not an interested person of Securities, unless the information so supplied or omitted was available to Securities or Advisers without recourse to the Corporation or any such interested person of the Corporation.

10. FREEDOM TO DEAL WITH THIRD PARTIES.

Securities shall be free to render to others services of a nature either similar to or different from those rendered under this contract, except such as may impair its performance of the service and duties to be rendered by it hereunder.

11. EFFECTIVE DATE, DURATION AND TERMINATION OF AGREEMENT.

This Agreement shall become effective with respect to each Portfolio on the date set forth on Exhibit A hereto, as supplemented from time to time.

Unless sooner terminated as hereinafter provided, this Agreement shall continue in effect only so long as such continuance is specifically approved at least annually (a) by the Board of Directors of the Corporation, or by the vote of the holders of a majority of the outstanding voting securities of the applicable Portfolio, and (b) by a majority of the directors who are not interested persons of Securities or of the Corporation cast in person at a meeting called for the purpose of voting on such approval. Whenever referred to in this Agreement, the vote or approval of the holders of a majority of the outstanding voting securities of a Portfolio shall mean the vote of 67% or more of such securities if the holders of more than 50% of such securities are present in person or by proxy or the vote of more than 50% of such securities, whichever is less.

This Agreement may be terminated with respect to any Portfolio at any time without the payment of any penalty by the vote of the Board of Directors of the Corporation or by the vote of the holders of majority of the outstanding voting securities of such Portfolio, or by Securities, upon sixty (60) days' written notice to the other party. This Agreement shall automatically terminate in the event of its assignment.

12. AMENDMENTS TO AGREEMENT.

No material amendment to this Agreement shall be effective until approved by a vote of the Board of Directors of the Corporation, including a majority of the directors who are not interested persons of the Corporation and who have no direct or indirect financial interest in this Agreement, case in person at a meeting called for the purpose of voting on such amendment. Additionally, no amendment to this Agreement that materially increases the fee payable by a Portfolio hereunder shall be effective until approved by a vote of the holders of a majority of the outstanding voting securities of such Portfolio.

13. NOTICES.

Any notice under this Agreement shall be in writing addressed, delivered or mailed, postage prepaid to the other party at such address as such other party may designate in writing for receipt of such notice.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Corporation and Securities have caused this Agreement to be executed by their duly authorized officers as of the day and year first above written.

DEALER SALES AGREEMENT

Ladies and Gentlemen:

We invite you to join a selling group for the distribution of shares of those mutual funds available to the public for which we serve as principal underwriter (the "Funds"). Upon execution of this Agreement, you agree to participate in the distribution of the Funds to the public subject to the terms set forth herein.

1. In all sales of the Funds to the public, you shall act as dealer of your own account and shall not be authorized to act as agent for the Funds, for us or for any other dealer.

2. All orders will be accepted by us only at the price, in the amount and subject to the terms set forth in the then current Prospectuses and Statements of Additional Information of the Funds. The procedure relating to the handling of orders shall be subject to instructions which we shall forward to you from time to time. Certificates representing shares of the Funds will not be issued.

3. You agree to provide distribution and marketing services in the marketing of shares of the Funds and assistance to your customers who own shares of the Funds including, but not limited to, answering inquiries regarding the status of customers' accounts, assisting in changing dividend options, account designations and addresses, and providing information to customers relating to maintaining their investments in the Funds. For such services, we will pay you a fee, as established by us from time to time and as permitted by each Fund's respective Plan of Distribution established under Rule 12b-1 of the Investment Company Act of 1940. Such fee will be based upon the following percentages of the average month-end net assets of each Fund represented by shares of the Fund owned, during the quarter for which payment is being made, by customers for which you maintain a servicing relationship as evidenced by their execution of such agreements as we may from time to time require. We specifically reserve the right to discontinue paying fees with respect to those assets for which such customer authorizations which we may require are not provided.

Fund	Annual Fee (as a % of average month-end net assets)
----	-----
Reserve Fund	0
Money Market Fund	0
Tax Free Fund	.10%
Bond Fund	.15%
Government Fund	.15%
Growth and Income Fund	.25%

Regional Fund	.25%
Value Fund	.25%
Developing Countries Fund	.25%
International Fund	.25%
Midcap Growth Fund	.25%
Balanced Fund	.25%
Growth Fund	.25%

Such fee will be paid on a quarterly basis and, subject to the last sentence of this section 3, will be paid so long as the accounts of your clients remain in the Funds and this Agreement and such other agreements as we may require have not been terminated. Each Fund reserves the right to terminate or suspend its Plan of Distribution at any time as specified therein. You agree to furnish us or the Funds with such information as may be reasonably requested with respect to such fees paid to you pursuant to this Agreement.

4. If any Fund shares sold under the terms of this Agreement are repurchased by the Funds or are tendered for redemption within seven business days after confirmation of the original purchase, it is agreed that you shall forfeit the right to receive the fees hereunder with respect to such shares.

5. No person is authorized to make any representations concerning the Funds except those contained in the then current Prospectuses and in such printed information as may be furnished by us for use as information supplemental to the Prospectuses. Additional copies of the Prospectuses and any printed information supplementing the Prospectuses will be supplied by us in reasonable quantities upon request.

6. We reserve the right in our sole discretion, without notice, to suspend sales or withdraw the offering of shares of the Funds. This Agreement may be terminated by either party at any time upon seven days' notice to the other party. We reserve the right to amend this Agreement at any time upon written notice.

7. You represent that you are a member in good standing of the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. and agree that termination or suspension of such membership shall automatically terminate this Agreement. You further agree that you will immediately advise us of any such termination or suspension. You also represent that you are authorized under relevant federal and state laws and regulations to receive the fees payable hereunder and that you will immediately advise us of any termination or suspension of such authorization.

8. You agree to indemnify and hold harmless the Funds and IAI Securities, Inc. from and against any and all claims, liability, expense or loss in any way connected with your violation of this Agreement or arising out of or in any way connected with your willful, reckless or negligent conduct in the performance of your duties and obligations hereunder including, without limitation, any representations, verbal or otherwise, of any untrue or alleged untrue statements of a material fact relating to the offer and sale of the Funds made by you, your agents or employees.

9. All communications to us should be sent to the above address. Any notice to you shall be duly given if mailed or telegraphed to you at the address specified by you below. This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Minnesota.

SHAREHOLDER SERVICE AGREEMENT

Ladies and Gentlemen:

We invite you to enter into an agreement with us for the servicing of shareholders of, and the maintenance of shareholder accounts for which we serve as principal underwriter (the "Funds") and the shares of which are offered to the public at net asset value, as described in the Funds' Prospectuses. Subject to your acceptance of this Agreement, the terms and conditions of this Agreement shall be as follows:

1. You shall provide shareholder and account maintenance services for certain shareholders of the Funds who purchase shares of the Funds as a result of their relationship to you. Such services may include, shareholder liaison services, such as responding to customer inquiries and providing information on their investments, and such other information and services as we reasonably may request, to the extent you are permitted by applicable statute, rule or regulation to provide such information or services.
2. If shares of the Funds are to be purchased or held by you on behalf of your clients:
 - (i) Such shares will be registered in your name or in the name of your nominee. The client will be the beneficial owner of the shares of the Funds purchased and held by you in accordance with the client's instructions and the client may exercise all rights of a shareholder of the Funds. You agree to transmit to the Funds' transfer agent (Investment Advisers, Inc.), in a timely manner, all purchase orders and redemption requests of your clients and to forward to each client all proxy statements, periodic shareholder reports and other communications received from the Funds by you on behalf of your clients. The Funds have agreed to pay all reasonable out-of-pocket expenses actually incurred by you in connection with the transfer by you of such proxy statements and reports to your clients.
 - (ii) You agree to transfer to the Funds' transfer agent, on the date such purchase orders are effective, federal funds in an amount equal to the amount of all purchase orders placed by you on behalf of your clients and accepted by the Funds. In the event that the Funds fail to receive such federal funds on such date (other than through fault of the Funds or their transfer agent), you shall indemnify the Funds against any expense (including overdraft charges) incurred by the Funds as a result of their failure to receive such federal funds.
 - (iii) You agree to make available to the Funds, upon the Funds' request, such information relating to your clients who are beneficial owners of shares of the Funds and their transactions in shares of the Funds, as may be required by applicable laws and regulations or as may be reasonably requested by the Funds.

- (iv) You agree to transfer record ownership of a client's shares of the Funds to the client promptly upon the request of a client. In addition, record ownership will be promptly transferred to the client in the event that the person or entity ceases to be your client.
- 3. You shall provide to us copies of the lists of members of your organization and make available to us any publications and other facilities of your organization for the placement of advertisements or promotional materials and sending information regarding the Funds, to enable us to solicit for sale and to sell shares to your members.
- 4. Neither you nor any of your employees or agents are authorized to make any representation concerning the shares of the Funds except those contained in the then current Prospectuses of the Funds, copies of which will be supplied by us to you; and you shall have no authority to act as agent for the Funds or for us. You agree to hold the Funds harmless and indemnify us in the event that you, or any of your employees or agents, should violate any law, rule, or regulation, or any provisions of this Agreement, which violation may result in liability to us, and in the event we determine to refund any amounts paid by any investor by reason of any such violation on your part, you shall return to us any fees previously paid by us to you in connection with the transaction for which the refund is made.
- 5. In consideration for the services described herein, you shall be entitled to receive from us such fees as established by us from time to time and as permitted by each Funds' respective Plan of Distribution established under Rule 12b-1 of the Investment Company Act of 1940 as set forth on Exhibit A. Such fee will be based upon assets of each Fund represented by shares of the Fund owned, during the quarter for which payment is being made, by shareholders for which you maintain a servicing relationship as evidenced by their execution of such agreements as we may from time to time require. We specifically reserve the right to discontinue paying fees with respect to those assets for which such customer authorization which we may require is not provided.

Such fee will be paid on a quarterly basis and, subject to the last sentence of this section, will be paid so long as the accounts for your clients and this Agreement and such other agreements as we may require have not been terminated. Each Fund reserves the right to terminate or suspend its Plan of Distribution or terminate this Agreement at any time, and upon such termination any such obligation to pay such fee shall cease. You agree to furnish us and the Funds with any such information as may be reasonably requested with respect to such fees paid to you pursuant to this Agreement.

- 6. We reserve the right, at our discretion and without notice, to suspend the sale of shares or withdraw the sale of shares of the Funds.
- 7. This Agreement may be terminated by either party at any time upon seven days notice to the other party with or without cause. We reserve the right to amend this Agreement at any time upon written notice.
- 8. All communications to us should be sent to us at 3700 First Bank Place, P.O. Box 357, Minneapolis, MN 55440. Any notice to you shall be duly given if mailed or telegraphed to you at the address specified by you below. This Agreement shall be governed by and construed under the laws of the State of Minnesota.

PLAN OF DISTRIBUTION

WHEREAS, Rule 12b-1 under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the "Rule"), provides that a registered open-end management investment company may act as a distributor of securities of which it is the issuer, provided that any payments made by such company in connection with such distribution are made pursuant to a written plan describing all material aspects of the proposed financing of distribution; and

WHEREAS, it is intended that IAI Investment Funds VIII, Inc. (the "Corporation"), will enter into an Underwriting and Distribution Agreement (the "Agreement") with IAI Securities, Inc. ("Securities"), pursuant to which shares of each series of common stock of the Corporation set forth in Exhibit A hereto, as supplemented from time to time (the "Portfolios"), will be sold to the public.

NOW THEREFORE, the following shall constitute the written plan pursuant to which such distribution shall be made.

The Agreement between the Corporation, on behalf of each Portfolio, and Securities provides that Securities will receive, as compensation for services it renders under the Agreement, a monthly fee from each Portfolio as set forth in Exhibit A hereto.

Securities shall waive a portion or all of the monthly fee so that the Corporation does not exceed the expense limitation referenced in Part Three (3) of the Investment Advisory Agreement between the Corporation and Investment Advisers, Inc. The Corporation's investment adviser and Securities may at their option and in their sole discretion, make payments from their own resources to cover the costs of additional distribution and shareholder servicing activities.

The monthly fee paid by each Portfolio shall be used by Securities for the purposes of financing any activity which is primarily intended to result in the sale of such Portfolio's shares, or as otherwise provided herein.

The fee may be used to pay advertising and promotional expenses in connection with the distribution of shares of the Portfolios. These advertising and promotional expenses include, by way of example but not by way of limitation:

- costs of prospectuses, annual reports and semi-annual reports for other than current shareholders

- costs of quarterly reports and monthly letters to shareholders and prospective shareholders
- preparation and distribution of sales literature and advertising of any type
- compensation and benefits paid to and expenses incurred by:
 - personnel involved in the preparation and execution of all direct mail and advertising activity
 - personnel involved in the direct marketing of shares to the public
 - personnel with the responsibility of supporting the activities mentioned above
- compensation to other broker-dealers for their sale of the Corporation's shares, including the implementation of various incentive programs with respect to broker-dealers, banks and other financial institutions.

The fee may also be used to pay shareholder servicing fees, which includes payments for personal service and/or the maintenance of shareholder accounts. These shareholder servicing fees may be paid to those who provide shareholder liaison services, such as responding to customer inquiries and providing information on their investments.

This Plan shall become effective with respect to each Portfolio on the date set forth on Exhibit A hereto, as supplemented from time to time.

This Plan shall continue in effect for a period of more than one year from the date of its adoption with respect to a Portfolio only so long as such Plan, together with any related agreements, has been approved by a vote of the Board of Directors of the Corporation, and the directors who are not interested persons of the Corporation and have no direct or indirect financial interest in the operation of the Plan or in any agreements related to the Plan, cast in person at a meeting called for the purpose of voting on such Plan or agreements.

The President of Securities, or such other persons as he may designate, shall provide to the Board of Directors of the Corporation, and the directors shall review, at least quarterly, a written report of the amounts received by Securities pursuant to the Plan, the expenditures made by Securities out of such proceeds, and the purpose for which such expenditures were made.

This Plan may be terminated with respect to a Portfolio at any time by vote a majority of the members of the Board of Directors of the Corporation who are not interested persons of the Corporation and have no direct or indirect financial interest in the operation of the Plan or in any agreements related to the Plan, or by vote of a majority of the outstanding voting securities of such Portfolio.

This Plan may not be amended to increase materially the amount to be spent by a Portfolio as set forth in Exhibit A without shareholder approval.

All material amendments to the Plan, together with any related agreements, must be approved by a vote of the Board of Directors of the Corporation, and of the directors who are not interested persons of the Corporation and who have no direct or indirect financial interest in the operation of the Plan or in any agreements related to the Plan, cast in person at a meeting called for the purpose of voting such Plan or agreements.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

IAI GROWTH & INCOME FUND, IAI REGIONAL FUND, IAI VALUE FUND

The Board of Directors and Shareholders

IAI Investment Funds IV, Inc.

IAI Investment Funds VII, Inc.

IAI Investment Funds VIII, Inc.

We have audited the accompanying statements of assets and liabilities, including the fund portfolios, of IAI Regional Fund (a portfolio within IAI Investment Funds IV, Inc.), IAI Growth & Income Fund (a portfolio within IAI Investment Funds VII, Inc.) and IAI Value Fund (a portfolio within IAI Investment Funds VIII, Inc.) as of March 31, 1995 and the related statements of operations for the year then ended, the statements of changes in net assets for each of the years in the two-year period then ended and the financial highlights for each of the years in the five-year period ended March 31, 1995. These financial statements and the financial highlights are the responsibility of the Funds' management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements and the financial highlights based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements and the financial highlights are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Investment securities held in custody are confirmed to us by the custodian. As to securities purchased and sold but not received or delivered, we request confirmations from brokers and where replies are not received, we carry out other appropriate auditing procedures. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements and the financial highlights referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of IAI Regional Fund, IAI Growth & Income Fund and IAI Value Fund at March 31, 1995, the results of their operations for the year then ended, the changes in their net assets for each of the years in the two-year period then ended and the financial highlights for each of the years in the five-year period ended March 31, 1995, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.
