ALC COMMUNICATIONS CORPORATION AND SUBSIDIARY
NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

THREE MONTHS ENDED MARCH 31, 1993 AND 1994

NOTE A -- MANAGEMENT'S REPRESENTATION

The consolidated financial statements included herein have been prepared by ALC management, without audit, pursuant to the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Certain information and note disclosures normally included in financial statements prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles have been condensed or omitted pursuant to such rules and regulations. Certain prior year amounts have been reclassified to conform to current year presentation. In the opinion of ALC management, all adjustments considered necessary for a fair presentation have been included and are of a normal recurring nature, and the accompanying consolidated financial statements present fairly the financial position as of March 31, 1994 and December 31, 1993, and the results of operations and cash flows for the three month periods ended March 31, 1994 and 1993.

The balance sheet at December 31, 1993 has been derived from the audited financial statements at that date but does not include all of the information and footnotes required by generally accepted accounting principles for complete financial statements. It is suggested that these consolidated financial statements be read in conjunction with the financial statements and notes included in the Company's Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 1993.

NOTE B -- SUBSEQUENT EVENT

In April 1994, the Company acquired, on the open market, $5.0 million of its 9.0% Senior Subordinated Debentures at the Company's approximate book value.

Item 2 MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The Company reported net income of $14.6 million on revenue of $129.8 million for the three month period ended March 31, 1994. This compares to net income (before the cumulative effect of accounting change) of $8.0 million on revenue of $101.8 million for the same period in 1993. Gross margin increased to 46.1% from 45.5% in the year earlier period. The significant improvement in operations was reflected by the increase in operating income of $9.5 million over the same period one year earlier. The improved operating results for the first quarter of 1994 were primarily due to an increase in long distance traffic and operating expense reductions as a percent of revenue.

</TABLE>

During the first quarter of 1993, the Company adopted Financial Accounting Standards Board Statement No. 109 "Accounting for Income Taxes" ("Statement 109") which resulted in the recording of a net deferred tax asset related primarily to future tax benefits which are expected to be realized upon utilization of a portion of the Company's tax net operating loss carryforwards. The cumulative effect of the change in method of accounting for income taxes resulted in an increase in income of $13.5 million in the first quarter of 1993. Net income for the three months ended March 31, 1993 was $21.5 million.

Billable minutes have continued to increase since the third quarter of 1990 when compared to the same quarter in the prior year. For the third quarter in a row, billable minutes have reached the highest level in the Company's history. The increase in billable minutes results from traffic growth generated by new customers, minutes from the acquisition of a customer base, increased sales productivity, the introduction of new products and increased minutes per customer offset by billable minutes lost through attrition of existing customers. The results of operations for the three months ended March 31, 1994 reflect a continuation of the trend of strong financial performance as indicated by an 83.0% increase in income before the cumulative effect of the accounting change from the comparable quarter of 1993.

REVENUE

Revenue increased by 27.4% for the three months ended March 31, 1994 from the comparable period of 1993. Billable minutes again reached the highest level in the history of the Company, increasing by 33.0% for the three months ended March 31, 1994 over the comparable period in 1993. Additionally, resellers contributed $18.1 million to revenue during the quarter, up over 160% from the comparable quarter one year earlier. The Company's revenue per minute continues to be above the industry average, though it has decreased from the prior year quarter resulting from changes in the sales mix.

The first full month revenue from new sales in the first quarter of 1994 was significantly higher than the same period one year earlier. The increased revenue from new sales along with growth in revenue from existing customers continues to outpace revenue lost from the attrition of customers.

The provision for uncollectible revenue was 1.8% of gross revenue for the three months ended March 31, 1994 and 2.6% for the same period of 1993. Controls and procedures continue to be reviewed to improve the collection process and provide earlier detection of credit risks.

OPERATING EXPENSES

The Company's primary cost is for communication services, which represents the costs of originating and terminating calls via local exchange carriers (primarily Bell Operating Companies). Also included in communication services are the costs of owning and leasing long-haul bulk transmission capacity.

The cost of communication services increased $14.5 million during the three month period ended March 31, 1994 compared to the same period in 1993. This cost, however, declined as a percent of net revenue for the comparable periods. By the use of high volume fixed price leased facilities to transmit traffic and lower prevailing unit prices for such capacity, the Company has successfully reduced its network costs as a percent of revenue.

Sales, general and administrative expenses increased by 9.5% for the three month period ended March 31, 1994 from the same period one year earlier (but was lower as a percent of revenue). The increase reflects increased commissions, new sales channel program costs and other expenses related to greater sales activity. First quarter 1994 results include a $1.2 million addition to pre-tax income resulting from the settlement of a state telecommunications excise tax dispute.

Depreciation and amortization increased 41.1% from the first quarter of 1993 to the same quarter in 1994. This is primarily due to the amortization of the costs related to the acquisition of a customer base.

INTEREST EXPENSE

Net interest expense decreased 55.5% for the three months ended March 31, 1994 compared to the same period in 1993. This resulted from principal payments in 1993, reduced interest related to the replacement of the 1992 Notes with the 1993 Notes, increased interest income due to higher cash balances, the elimination of borrowings under the Revolving Credit Facility as well as capital Lease expirations.

INCOME TAXES

The effective tax rate increased from 29.5% for the first quarter of 1993 to 36.0% for the first quarter of 1994, due to the increase in the federal income tax rate and the increase in taxable income which results in a decrease in the impact of the Company's annual available $10 million net operating loss carryforward on the effective rate.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

For the quarters ended March 31, 1994 and 1993, the Company generated positive cash flow from operations of $24.6 million and $11.2 million, respectively. The positive cash flow reflects fifteen consecutive quarters of increased revenue and operating profits compared to prior year comparable quarters.

The positive cash flow from operations resulted in working capital of $17.0 million at March 31, 1994 compared to a $1.4 million at December 31, 1993. The increase in working capital is largely attributable to: (a) the increase in accounts receivable due to the increase in revenue and (b) the increase in cash attributable to the increased cash flow.

In addition to the positive cash flow from operations, the Company's liquidity position is further strengthened by the availability under the Revolving Credit Facility ("Facility"). The Facility provides for borrowings up to $40.0 million based on the level of accounts receivable and expires June 30, 1995. Under this Facility, the Company is able to minimize interest expense by structuring the borrowings under three alternatives. The effective rate under the Facility during 1993 approximated 5.8%. There have been no borrowings under the Facility during 1994. As of March 31, 1994, the Company had borrowing availability of $40.0 million and no balance outstanding.

Further evidence of the Company's strong liquidity position was the Company's ability to finance the purchase, in April 1994, of $5.0 million of the Company's 1993 Notes from cash flow from operations.

Because the Company has chosen to lease rather than own its transmission facilities, the Company's requirements for capital expenditures are modest. Capital expenditures totaled $4.7 million for the first quarter of 1994 and are expected to be $20 - $25 million for the year ended December 31, 1994. Capital expenditures during the first quarter of 1994 included projects for enhanced efficiency and technical advancement in the network, information systems and customer service. Future investment requirements for capital expenditures relate directly to traffic growth which necessitates the purchase of switching and related equipment. In addition, a major component of the capital budget relates to technological advancements as the Company continually updates its network capabilities to offer enhanced products and services.

Management believes that the Company's cash flow from operations will provide adequate sources of liquidity to meet the Company's anticipated short and long term liquidity needs.
