The terms we use in this Supplement have the same meaning as in the Prospectus. We will send you another copy of any prospectus or supplement without charge upon request. Please contact the customer service center referenced in your Prospectus.

The purpose of this Supplement is to provide you with information regarding the AllianceBernstein Common Stock (Separate Account 4) and AllianceBernstein Mid Cap Growth (Separate Account 3) Funds.

The examples also assume that your investment has a 5% return each year. The example also assumes maximum contract charges and total annual expenses of the portfolios (before expense limitations) set forth in the previous charts. Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions, your costs would be:

THE ALLIANCEBERNSTEIN COMMON STOCK FUND

OBJECTIVE AND INVESTMENT STRATEGY

The investment objective of the AllianceBernstein Common Stock Fund is to achieve long-term growth of capital. The Fund will achieve its objective by investing its assets in securities represented in the Russell 1000 Growth

Index (Index); it is intended that the Fund will approximate the performance of the Index on an annualized basis.

The Manager will use a replication construction technique to initiate and maintain the portfolio. The Fund will approximate the Russell 1000 Growth Index by owning all securities in the portfolio in the approximate weight each represents in the Index. The Russell 1000 Growth Index measures the performance of the large-cap growth segment of the U.S. equity universe. It includes those Russell 1000 companies with higher price-to-book ratios and higher forecasted growth values. (Source: Russell Investment Group).

(NB/IF)

The majority of trading in the Fund will take place on June 30th of each year after the annual reconstitution of the Russell indexes by the Russell Mellon Investment Company. The list of constituents is ranked based on total market capitalization as of May 31st of each year, with the actual reconstitution effective June 30th. Changes to the membership lists are pre-announced and subject to change if any corporate activity occurs or if any new information is received prior to release.

Typically, passively managed portfolios are rebalanced when cash is accumulated due to dividend and interest receipts, monies received from corporate reorganizations (i.e. tenders, mergers and buybacks) and external cash flows.

AllianceBernstein will utilize index futures and Exchange Traded Funds to equitize short-term cash balances or effect basis trades to minimize transaction costs. These instruments are used if they provide a more cost-effective alternative than transacting in the cash market.

The Fund is valued daily.

- 4. In the section of your Prospectus entitled "RIA features and benefits," the second and third paragraphs in the subsection entitled "Investment strategies" under the heading entitled "The AllianceBernstein Mid Cap Growth Fund," are deleted and replaced with the following:

The Fund may also invest in other types of securities including convertible preferred stocks, convertible debt securities and short-term securities such as corporate notes, and temporarily invest in money market instruments. Additionally, the Fund may invest up to 10% of its total assets in restricted securities.

The Fund attempts to generate excess return by taking active risk in security selection by looking for companies with unique growth potential. Economic sector allocation will also be taken into consideration, and the Fund may also be concentrated in industries where research resources indicate there is high growth potential.

- 5. In the section of your Prospectus entitled "RIA features and benefits", the following replaces the Portfolio Manager information for the AllianceBernstein Common Stock and AllianceBernstein Mid Cap Growth Funds in the chart under "Investment manager of the AllianceBernstein Bond, AllianceBernstein Balanced, AllianceBernstein Common Stock and AllianceBernstein Mid Cap Growth Funds":

<TABLE>

- 6. In the section of your Prospectus entitled "RIA features and benefits", all references to the AllianceBernstein Common Stock Fund in the following subsections under "Risks of investing in the Funds" are deleted: "Securities of medium and smaller sized companies", "Non-equity securities" and "Foreign Investing." The subsection entitled "Investment concentration" is deleted in its entirety. The following is added as a new subsection under "Risks of investing in the Funds":

RISKS ASSOCIATED WITH THE ALLIANCEBERNSTEIN COMMON STOCK FUND

While the objective of the Fund is to approximate the return of the Russell 1000 Growth Index, the actual performance of the Fund may deviate from the Index as a result of transaction costs, equitization of cash, security price deviations, investment management fees, operating expense charges such as custody and audit fees, any potential future exchange trading limits, and internal stock restrictions, all of which affects the Fund but not the Index. This deviation is commonly referred to as "tracking error". The Fund attempts to minimize these deviations through a management process which strives to minimize transactions costs, keep the account fully invested and maintain a portfolio with characteristics that are systematically the same as those of the Russell 1000 Growth Index.
