Fund Summary

Investment Objective The Fund's investment objective is to seek total return on investment, with dividend income an important component of that return.

Fees and Expenses

This table describes the fees and expenses that you may pay if you buy and hold shares of the Fund. You may qualify for sales charge discounts if you and members of your household invest, or agree to invest in the future, at least $50,000 in Huntington Funds. More information about these and other discounts is available from your financial professional and in the "Sales Charges" section at page 208 of the prospectus and "Other Purchase Information – Sales Charge Reductions/Waivers (Class A Shares)" at page 78 of the Fund's statement of additional information.

Example

This Example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund with the cost of investing in other mutual funds. The Example assumes that you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods indicated and then redeem all of your shares at the end of those periods. The Example also assumes that your investment has a 5% return each year and that the Fund' s operating expenses remain the same. Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions your costs would be:

	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Trust Shares	$ 140	$ 437	$755	$ 1,657
Class A Shares	$ 633	$ 965	$1,319	$ 2,316

Portfolio Turnover

The Fund pays transaction costs, such as commissions, when it buys and sells securities (or “turns over” its portfolio). A higher portfolio turnover rate may indicate higher transaction costs and may result in higher taxes when Fund shares are held in a taxable account. These costs, which are not reflected in annual fund operating expenses or in the Example, affect the Fund' s performance. During the most recent fiscal year, the Fund' s portfolio turnover rate was 143% of the average value of its portfolio.

Not A Deposit * Not Insured By Any Government Agency * Not FDIC Insured * No Bank Guarantee * May Lose Value

Principal Investment Strategy

The Fund normally invests at least 65% of its assets in dividend-paying stocks, and the Advisor focuses on those it believes are undervalued or out-of-favor. The Fund may invest in convertible bonds and other securities (such as preferred stock and real estate investment trusts) that contain aspects of both stocks and bonds. The Advisor will also frequently purchase stocks in a short period prior to the ex-dividend date (the interval between the announcement and the payments of the next dividend) which increases the amount of trading costs the Fund will incur.

The Fund generally invests in mature, middle and large-capitalization U.S. corporations. Quantitative analysis is used to identify stocks that the Advisor believes are undervalued relative to the market and to the security's historic valuations. It then uses a qualitative stock selection model based on earnings expectations and supplemental valuation measures to narrow the list of stocks to the most attractive.

Principal Investment Risks

All mutual funds take investment risks. Therefore, it is possible to lose money by investing in the Fund. An investment in the Fund is not a bank deposit and is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency. The primary factors that may reduce the Fund's net asset value ("NAV") and returns include:

Equity Securities Risk. The price of equity securities in the Fund's portfolio will fluctuate based on changes in a company's financial condition and on market and economic conditions.

Market Risk. The value of securities in the Fund's portfolio will fluctuate and, as a result, the Fund's share price may decline suddenly or over a sustained period of time.

Investment Style Risk. The type of securities in which a Fund invests may underperform other assets or the overall market.

Real Estate/REIT Risk. The Fund's investment in REITs is subject to the same risks as direct investments in real estate, including sensitivity to general economic downturns and the volatility of local real estate markets. REITs may have limited financial resources and their securities may trade infrequently and in limited volume, and thus they may be more volatile than other securities.

Portfolio Turnover Risk. The Fund may trade securities actively, which could increase its transaction costs (thereby lowering its performance) and could increase the amount of taxes you owe by generating short-term gains, which may be taxed at a higher rate.

Interest Rate Risk. The value of the Fund's investments in fixed income securities may decline when prevailing interest rates rise or increase when interest rates go down. The longer a security's maturity or duration, the greater its value will change in response to changes in interest rates. The interest earned on the Fund's investments in fixed income securities may decline when prevailing interest rates decline.

Call Risk. Issuers of securities may redeem the securities prior to maturity at a price below their current market value.

Credit Risk. Issuers of securities in which the Fund invests may have their credit ratings downgraded or may default in the payment of principal or interest on the securities, which would cause the Fund to lose money.

Performance: Bar Chart and Table

Returns after taxes on distributions assumes a continued investment in the Fund and show the effect of taxes on Fund distributions. Returns after taxes on distributions and sales of Fund Shares assumes all Shares were redeemed at the end of each measurement period, and shows the effect of any taxable gain (or offsetting loss) on redemption, as well as the effects of taxes on Fund distributions. These after tax returns do not reflect the effect of any applicable state and local taxes. After tax returns are not relevant to investors holding shares through tax-deferred programs, such as IRA or 401(k) plans.

The S&P 500 Value Index is comprised of approximately half the market capitalization of the S&P 500 that has been identified as being on the value end of the growth-value spectrum.
