Supplement dated January 1, 1997, to Prospectus dated May 1, 1996

This information supplements your current Prospectus and should be read and retained with that Prospectus.

The Small Business Job Protection Act of 1996 (the "Act"), signed into law on August 20, 1996, has several effects on the Contracts described by this Prospectus; these are summarized below.

[bullet] Repeal of Death Benefit Exclusion

While payments received by your beneficiaries after your death are generally taxed in the same manner as if you had received those payments, a limited death benefit exclusion may have applied for payments due to deaths occurring on or before August 20, 1996. This exclusion no longer applies to payments due to deaths occurring after August 20, 1996.

[bullet] Minimum Distribution Requirements

Prior to August 20, 1996, the Internal Revenue Code required distributions to be made from certain plans by April 1 of the calendar year following the calendar year in which you attain age 70 1/2. As of January 1, 1997, distributions for qualified plan participants, other than five-percent owners, and for all Section 457 plans, must begin by April 1 of the calendar year following the year in which you attain age 70 1/2 or retire, whichever occurs later.

[bullet] Section 457 Plan Trust Requirements

Under the Act, Section 457 Plans sponsored by state or local governments will be required to hold all assets and income in trust (or a custodial account or an annuity contract) for the exclusive benefit of participants and their beneficiaries. Section 457 Plans that were in existence on August 20, 1996 are allowed until January 1, 1999 to meet this requirement. Until such time as a state or local government-sponsored Section 457 Plan meets the Act's trust requirement, all amounts of compensation deferred under the plan, all property and rights purchased with such amounts, and all income attributable to such amounts, property or rights remain solely the property and rights of the employer (without being restricted to the provision of benefits under the plan) subject only to the claims of the employer's general creditors.

[bullet] Revocability of Options

Formerly, Section 457 Plan participant pay out elections were required to be irrevocable. The Act permits a second election by participants to defer the commencement of pay out distributions. This second election must be mailed prior to the time that distributions have commenced.

[bullet] Limits on Purchase Payments Excludable from Income

Effective January 1, 1997, the maximum limit on annual Purchase Payments which may be excluded from your gross income under a Section 457 Plan is generally the lesser of $7,500, as adjusted to reflect the cost of living, or 33 1/3% of your includible compensation (25% of gross compensation).
