A Letter From the President

Dear Shareholder

Financial markets broadly posted positive returns over the most recent reporting period, with international equities providing some of the most impressive results.

 | |The U.S. economy has continued to show resilience in the face of the Federal Reserve Board's (the Fed) continued interest rate hikes and, more recently, higher oil prices. The Fed's measured tightening program recently brought the federal funds rate to 2.75% en route to a more "neutral" short-term interest rate target (relative to inflation). Since the U.S. presidential election, progress has been monitored on many fronts in Washington, although concerns remain about the structural problems of debt and deficits, as reflected by a significant decline in the U.S. dollar.

U.S. equities ended 2004 in a strong rally, but remained in a fairly narrow trading range for the first two months of 2005. Divergences were notable among sectors, with energy emerging as a clear leader. On the positive side, corporations have accelerated their hiring plans, capital spending remains reasonably robust and merger-and-acquisition activity has increased. Offsetting the positives are slowing corporate earnings growth, renewed energy price concerns and the potential for an economic slowdown. International equities, particularly in Asia, have benefited from higher economic growth rates (China recorded growth of 9.3% in 2004), stronger currencies and relatively reasonable valuations.

The major action in the bond market has been a flattening of the yield curve. As short-term interest rates continued to rise, yields on the long end of the curve remained relatively stable - even declining at certain points since the Fed's monetary tightening program began in June 2004. This phenomenon has been largely attributed to continued foreign interest in U.S. bonds, which has served to absorb much of the excess supply. By period-end, many believed long-term yields were long overdue for a rise.

Looking ahead, the environment is likely to be a challenging one for investors, with diversification and selectivity becoming increasingly important themes. With this in mind, we encourage you to meet with your financial advisor to review your goals and asset allocation and to rebalance your portfolio, as necessary, to ensure it remains aligned with your objectives and risk tolerance. As always, we thank you for trusting Merrill Lynch Investment Managers with your investment assets, and we look forward to serving you in the months and years ahead.

Sincerely,

A Discussion With Your Fund's Portfolio Manager

The Fund significantly outperformed both its benchmarks and its Lipper category average, benefiting from favorable sector weightings and good stock selection.

How did the Fund perform during the period in light of the existing market conditions?

For the six-month period ended February 28, 2005, Merrill Lynch Fundamental Growth Fund, Inc.'s Class A, Class B, Class C, Class I and Class R Shares had total returns of +11.77%, +11.37%, +11.38%, +11.92% and +11.69%, respectively. (Fund results shown do not reflect sales charges and would be lower if sales charges were included. Complete performance information can be found on pages 6 - 8 of this report to shareholders.) The Fund outperformed the +9.99% return of the unmanaged Standard & Poor's 500 (S&P 500) Index and the +8.65% return of the S&P 500 Barra Growth Index for the same period. Fund returns also exceeded the +8.80% average return of the Lipper Large Cap Growth Funds category, which represents the performance of actively managed large cap growth funds.

The equity, bond and commodity markets were relatively volatile over the past six months. The value style of investing significantly outpaced growth for the period, while small cap stocks outperformed The most significant factor in the Fund's outperformance was our overweighting of the consumer discretionary, industrials, information technology and materials sectors, and above-market exposure to selected stocks within these sectors. The top performers were Marriott International, Inc., Starwood Hotels & Resorts Worldwide Inc., Best Buy Co., Inc. and eBay, Inc. in consumer discretionary; Monster Worldwide, Inc. and PACCAR, Inc. in industrials; Oracle Corp. and Adobe Systems, Inc. in information technology; and Air Products & Chemicals, Inc. in materials.

Stock selection and underweight positions in health care and consumer staples also contributed positively to performance. In health care, relative results benefited from our negligible exposure to the major pharmaceutical companies, an area we have avoided for fundamental business reasons since May 2001. In consumer staples, our avoidance of several of the largest and best-known companies in the sector was the most meaningful contributor to performance.

The leading detractor from Fund performance was the absence of any investment in ExxonMobil Corp., which became part of the S&P 500 Barra Growth Index in December 2004 and represented a meaningful weighting (6.6%) in the benchmark by period-end. The stock price appreciated more than 23% in February 2005.

What changes were made to the portfolio during the period?

We made several adjustments to the portfolio in response to changes in the relative valuations and business fundamentals of the companies we own. In the consumer discretionary sector, valuations rose while growth of U.S. consumer spending gradually slowed. In response, we liquidated our positions at profits in Best Buy, eBay, Nike, Inc. and Lowe's Companies, Inc. We also substantially reduced our weighting in Coach, Inc. due to its relatively high valuation, although the longer-term business prospects look very good. We sold Rent-A-Center, Inc. and IAC/Interactive Corp. based on deteriorating business fundamentals.

In the health care sector, we initiated positions in companies that we believe could benefit as federal and state governments endeavor to change the U.S. healthcare delivery system. We added Zimmer Holdings, Inc. and St. Jude Medical, Inc. based on our belief that federal reimbursement programs will favor medical devices focused on rehabilitation and prevention of major cardiac problems that may lead to permanent disability. We added to our positions in WellPoint, Inc. and UnitedHealth Group, Inc., as we believe governments will make a major effort to move Medicaid and Medicare subscribers to private HMO plans over the next several years. We added Caremark $\bar{\text{Rx}}$, Inc. to the portfolio in light of both public and private sector policies to move to mail order drug plans. We sold Forest Laboratories, Inc. at a capital loss given our growing concerns about the collapse of the company's anti-depressant drug franchise, which might not be offset by its growing franchise in the Alzheimer's drug market.

In the industrials sector, we liquidated our positions at profits in Monster, PACCAR, Rockwell Automation, Inc., Cummins, Inc., Eaton Corp., Robert Half International, Inc. and Emerson Electric Co. - all based on relatively high valuations. We added positions in Boeing Co., Lockheed Martin Corp., Deere & Co. and Caterpillar, Inc. In our opinion, the dramatic decline in the value of the U.S. dollar over the past two years puts U.S. manufacturers of aerospace and agricultural and industrial construction equipment in a position to grow by taking market share from manufacturers in Europe and Asia. Our exposure to this sector, as well as to health care, has increased over the past six months.

MERRILL LYNCH FUNDAMENTAL GROWTH FUND, INC., FEBRUARY 28, 2005

In contrast, we meaningfully reduced the Fund's exposure to the information technology sector, selling out positions as the stocks rose about twice as much as our benchmark in the fourth quarter of 2004 and into January on the basis of very good earnings reports. We liquidated our positions in Oracle, Adobe, Cisco Systems, Inc.,

Hewlett-Packard Co., Lucent Technologies Inc., Texas Instruments Inc., Motorola, Inc., Tektronix, Inc., Canon Inc., Avaya Inc., Agilent Technologies Inc., Analog Devices, Inc. and SanDisk Corp. The Fund ended the period with an underweight exposure in the information technology sector. We are concerned that there is too much capacity to produce technology products across the board on a global basis. In addition, Chinese and other Asian companies are becoming the most aggressive competitors with a threshold for profitability that is lower than their U.S. counterparts. This does not appear to be a formula for materially higher profits, profitability and higher stock valuations for most U.S. technology companies.

In the materials sector, we shifted our focus from metals and mining to chemicals by selling Phelps Dodge Corp. and Freeport-McMoRan Copper & Gold, Inc. and adding Air Products, The Dow Chemical Co., Praxair, Inc. and E.I. DuPont de Nemours & Co. We are concerned about the pricing and profitability of metals companies in 2005 as new mining capacity is developed around the globe. On the other hand, the decline in the U.S. dollar enhances the competitive position and profit growth of U.S. companies in the industrial chemicals and gases businesses.

For the first time in several years, we increased the Fund's exposure to the financials sector, adding positions in Franklin Resources, Inc., Bank of America Corp., Washington Mutual, Inc., Citigroup, Inc., U.S. Bancorp, Doral Financial Corp. and MBNA Corp. Although the continued increase in the federal funds rate will put a crimp on lending margins, we believe the recent acceleration of both commercial and consumer loan demand will offset the impact of narrower margins. The majority of these financial services companies have relatively high dividend yields to cushion the downside of stock prices as the Federal Reserve Board (the Fed) continues to raise short-term interest rates.

In the energy sector, we took profits on many of the Fund's holdings in exploration and development companies, selling Devon Energy Corp., Apache Corp., Pioneer Natural Resources Inc. and Occidental Petroleum Corp. Given the recent upturn in the stock prices of almost all energy companies, it appears investors have recognized the tremendous earnings growth of the S&P energy companies over the past year. However, the increase in interest rates over the past nine months, as well as higher energy costs, are more likely to slow economic growth and cause lower energy prices and lower earnings. Consequently, we have taken a cautionary view toward energy companies dependent on energy prices over the intermediate term. The Fund still has a meaningful exposure to the major companies that provide the logistical intelligence, equipment and services for private companies and governments to explore and develop new energy reserves, which are obviously scarce. We have had a positive secular view toward the energy sector during this decade. However, when global economies experience a slowdown in real growth or a recession, as occurred in the United States in 2001, energy prices fall and the stocks generally decline.

How would you characterize the Fund's position at the close of the period ?

The Fund is positioned for a slowdown in U.S. economic growth. We ended the period overweight in the industrials sector, assuming a continuation of capital investment programs in the United States and Asia, particularly China. U.S. manufacturers of industrial goods as well as chemicals and gases should benefit from their increased competitive position in the global markets.

Our focus in the consumer discretionary sector is on companies in the services and entertainment segments, which we believe could do well as consumers spend more on these services rather than on motor vehicles, consumer electronics and home appliances. In the energy sector, we expect a continued ramp-up of corporate and government spending on exploration and development of new energy reserves. We have anticipated this type of development for more than two years given the substantial demand for energy and material goods from the Chinese economy. Finally, a slowdown in consumer spending could cause the Fed to stop or change the direction of its monetary restraint program, which would benefit the large banks, savings and loans, and credit card companies in the financial sector of the Fund's portfolio.

In addition, Class B Shares are subject to a distribution fee of 0.75% per year and an account maintenance fee of 0.25% per year. These shares automatically convert to Class A Shares after approximately eight years. (There is no initial sales charge for automatic share conversions). All returns for periods greater than eight years reflect this conversion.
- * Class C Shares are subject to a distribution fee of 0.75% per year and an account maintenance fee of 0.25% per year. In addition, Class C Shares are subject to a 1% contingent deferred sales charge if redeemed within one year of purchase.
- * Class I Shares incur a maximum initial sales charge (front-end load) of 5.25% and bear no ongoing distribution or account maintenance fees. Class I Shares are available only to eligible investors, as detailed in the Fund's prospectus.
- * Class R Shares do not incur a maximum sales charge (front-end load) or deferred sales charge. These shares are subject to a distribution fee of 0.25% per year and an account maintenance fee of 0.25% per year. Class R Shares are available only to certain retirement plans.

None of the past results shown should be considered a representation of future performance. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted. Refer to www.mlim.ml.com to obtain performance data current to the most recent month-end. Performance results do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder would pay on fund distributions or the redemption of fund shares. Figures shown in each of the following tables assume reinvestment of all dividends and capital gain distributions, if any, at net asset value on the ex-dividend date. Investment return and principal value of shares will fluctuate so that shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Dividends paid to each class of shares will vary because of the different levels of account maintenance, distribution and transfer agency fees applicable to each class, which are deducted from the income available to be paid to shareholders.

Disclosure of Expenses

Shareholders of this Fund may incur the following charges:
(a) expenses related to transactions, including sales charges, redemption fees and exchange fees; and (b) operating expenses including advisory fees, distribution fees including 12(b)-1 fees, and other Fund expenses. The following example (which is based on a hypothetical investment of $1,000 invested on September 1, 2004 and held through February 28, 2005) is intended to assist shareholders both in calculating expenses based on an investment in the Fund and in comparing these expenses with similar costs of investing in other mutual funds.

The first table below provides information about actual account values and actual expenses. In order to estimate the expenses a shareholder paid during the period covered by this report, shareholders can divide their account value by $1,000 and then multiply the result by the number in the first line under the heading entitled "Expenses Paid During the Period."

The second table below provides information about hypothetical account values and hypothetical expenses based on the Fund's actual expense ratio and an assumed rate of return of 5% per year before expenses. In order to assist shareholders in comparing the ongoing expenses of investing in this Fund and other funds, compare the 5% hypothetical example with the 5% hypothetical examples that appear in other funds' shareholder reports.

The expenses shown in the table are intended to highlight shareholders ongoing costs only and do not reflect any transactional expenses, such as sales charges, redemption fees or exchange fees. Therefore, the second table is useful in comparing ongoing expenses only, and will not help shareholders determine the relative total expenses of owning different funds. If these transactional expenses were included, shareholder expenses would have been higher.

Notes to Financial Statements

1. Significant Accounting Policies: Merrill Lynch Fundamental Growth Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, as a diversified, open-end management investment company. The Fund's financial statements are prepared in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles, which may require the use of management accruals and estimates. Actual results may differ from these estimates. These unaudited financial statements reflect all adjustments, which are, in the opinion of management, necessary to present a fair statement of the results for the interim period. All such adjustments are of a normal, recurring nature. The Fund offers multiple classes of shares. Shares of Class A and Class I are sold with a front-end sales charge. Shares of Class B and Class C may be subject to a contingent deferred sales charge. Class R Shares are sold only to certain retirement plans. All classes of shares have identical voting, dividend, liquidation and other rights and the same terms and conditions, except that Class A, Class B, Class C and Class R Shares bear certain expenses related to the account maintenance of such shares, and Class B, Class C and Class R Shares also bear certain expenses related to the distribution of such shares. Each class has exclusive voting rights with respect to matters relating to its account maintenance and distribution expenditures (except that Class B shareholders may vote on material changes to the Class A distribution plan). Income, expenses (other

In cases where equity securities are traded on more than one exchange, the securities are valued on the exchange designated as the primary market by or under the authority of the Board of Directors of the Fund. Long positions traded in the overthe-counter ("OTC") market, Nasdaq Small Cap or Bulletin Board are valued at the last available bid price or yield equivalent obtained from one or more dealers or pricing services approved by the Board of Directors of the Fund. Short positions traded in the OTC market are valued at the last available ask price. than expenses attributable to a specific class) and realized and unrealized gains and losses are allocated daily to each class based on its relative net assets. The following is a summary of significant accounting policies followed by the Fund.

Options written are valued at the last sale price in the case of exchange-traded options or, in the case of options traded in the OTC market, the last ask price. Options purchased are valued at their last sale price in the case of exchange-traded options or, in the case of options traded in the OTC market, the last bid price. Swap agreements are valued daily based upon quotations from market makers. Financial futures contracts and options thereon, which are traded on exchanges, are valued at their last sale price as of the close of such exchanges. Obligations with remaining maturities of 60 days or less are valued at amortized cost unless the Investment Adviser believes that this method no longer produces fair

Repurchase agreements are valued at cost plus accrued interest. The Fund employs pricing services to provide certain securities prices for the Fund. Securities and assets for which market quotations are not readily available are valued at fair value as determined in good faith by or under the direction of the Board of Directors of the Fund, including valuations furnished by the pricing services retained by the Fund, which may use a matrix system for valuations. The procedures of a pricing service and its valuations are reviewed by the officers of the Fund under the general supervision of the Fund's Board of Directors. Such valuations and procedures will be reviewed periodically by the Board of Directors of the Fund.

Generally, trading in foreign securities, as well as U.S. government securities and money market instruments, is substantially completed each day at various times prior to the close of business on the New York Stock Exchange ("NYSE"). The values of such securities used in computing the net asset value of the Fund's shares are determined as of such times. Foreign currency exchange rates also are generally determined prior to the close of business on the NYSE. Occasionally, events affecting the values of such securities and such exchange rates may occur between the times at which they are determined and the close of business on the NYSE that may not be reflected in the computation of the Fund's net asset value. If events (for example, a company announcement, market volatility or a natural disaster) occur during such periods that are expected to materially affect the value of such securities, those securities may be valued at their fair value as determined in good faith by the Fund's Board of Directors or by the Investment Adviser using a pricing service and/or procedures approved by the Fund's Board of Directors.

- (b) Derivative financial instruments—The Fund may engage in various portfolio investment strategies both to increase the return of the Fund and to hedge, or protect, its exposure to interest rate movements and movements in the securities markets. Losses may arise due to changes in the value of the contract or if the counterparty does not perform under the contract.
- * Financial futures contracts—The Fund may purchase or sell financial futures contracts and options on such futures contracts. Futures contracts are contracts for delayed delivery of securities at a specific future date and at a specific price or yield. Upon entering into a contract, the Fund deposits and maintains as collateral such initial margin as required by the exchange on which the transaction is effected. Pursuant to the contract, the Fund agrees to receive from or pay to the broker an amount of cash equal to the daily fluctuation in value of the contract. Such receipts or payments are known as variation margin and are recorded by the Fund as unrealized gains or losses. When the contract is closed, the Fund records a realized gain or loss equal to the difference between the value of the contract at the time it was opened and the value at the time it was closed.
- * Options--The Fund may write and purchase call and put options. When the Fund writes an option, an amount equal to the premium received by the Fund is reflected as an asset and an equivalent liability. The amount of the liability is subsequently marked-to-market to reflect the current value of the option written. When a security is purchased or sold through an exercise of an option, the related premium paid (or received) is added to (or deducted from) the basis of the security acquired or deducted from (or added to) the proceeds of the security sold. When an option expires (or the Fund enters into a closing transaction), the Fund realizes a gain or loss on the option to the extent of the premiums received or paid (or gain or loss to the extent the cost of the closing transaction exceeds the premium paid or received).

Written and purchased options are non-income producing investments.

(c) Foreign currency transactions—Transactions denominated in foreign currencies are recorded at the exchange rate prevailing when recognized. Assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are valued at the exchange rate at the end of the period. Foreign currency transactions are the result of settling (realized) or valuing (unrealized) assets or liabilities expressed in foreign currencies into U.S. dollars. Realized and unrealized gains or losses from investments include the effects of foreign exchange rates on investments.

- (d) Income taxes--It is the Fund's policy to comply with the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies and to distribute substantially all of its taxable income to its shareholders. Therefore, no federal income tax provision is required. Under the applicable foreign tax law, a withholding tax may be imposed on interest, dividends and capital gains at various rates.
- (e) Security transactions and investment income--Security transactions are recorded on the dates the transactions are entered into (the trade dates). Realized gains and losses on security transactions are determined on the identified cost basis. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend dates. Dividends from foreign securities where the ex-dividend date may have passed are subsequently recorded when the Fund has determined the ex-dividend date. Interest income is recognized on the accrual basis.
- (f) Prepaid registration fees—Prepaid registration fees are charged to expense as the related shares are issued.
- (g) Dividends and distributions—Dividends and distributions paid by the Fund are recorded on the ex-dividend dates.

- (h) Securities lending--The Fund may lend securities to financial institutions that provide cash or securities issued or guaranteed by the U.S. government as collateral, which will be maintained at all times in an amount equal to at least 100% of the current market value of the loaned securities. The market value of the loaned securities is determined at the close of business of the Fund and any additional required collateral is delivered to the Fund on the next business day. Where the Fund receives securities as collateral for the loaned securities, it collects a fee from the borrower. The Fund typically receives the income on loaned securities but does not receive the income on the collateral. Where the Fund receives cash collateral, it may invest such collateral and retain the amount earned on such investment, net of any amount rebated to the borrower. Loans of securities are terminable at any time and the borrower, after notice, is required to return borrowed securities within five business days. The Fund may pay reasonable finder's, lending agent, administrative and custodial fees in connection with its loans. In the event that the borrower defaults on its obligation to return borrowed securities because of insolvency or for any other reason, the Fund could experience delays and costs in gaining access to the collateral. The Fund also could suffer a loss where the value of the collateral falls below the market value of the borrowed securities, in the event of borrower default or in the event of losses on investments made with cash collateral.
- 2. Investment Advisory Agreement and Transactions with Affiliates: The Fund has entered into an Investment Advisory Agreement with Merrill Lynch Investment Managers, L.P. ("MLIM"). The general partner of MLIM is Princeton Services, Inc. ("PSI"), an indirect wholly-owned subsidiary of Merrill Lynch & Co., Inc. ("ML & Co."), which is the limited partner. The Fund has also entered into a Distribution Agreement and Distribution Plan with FAM Distributors, Inc. ("FFMD" or the "Distributor"), which is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Merrill Lynch Group, Inc.

MLIM is responsible for the management of the Fund's portfolio and provides the necessary personnel, facilities, equipment and certain other services necessary to the operations of the Fund. For such services, the Fund pays a monthly fee at the annual rate of ..65% of the average net assets of the Fund not exceeding $1 billion, ..625% of average net assets of the Fund in excess of $1 billion but not exceeding $1.5 billion, .60% of net assets in excess of $1.5 billion but not exceeding $5 billion, .575% of net assets in excess of $5 billion but not exceeding $7.5 billion and .55% of net assets in excess of $7.5 billion. MLIM has entered into a Sub-Advisory Agreement with Merrill Lynch Asset Management U.K. Limited ("MLAM U.K."), an affiliate of MLIM, pursuant to which MLAM U.K. provides investment advisory services to MLIM with respect to the Fund. There is no increase in the aggregate fees paid by the Fund for these services.

Pursuant to the Distribution Plan adopted by the Fund in accordance with Rule 12b-1 under the Investment Company Act of 1940, the Fund pays the Distributor ongoing account maintenance and distribution fees. The fees are accrued daily and paid monthly at annual rates based upon the average daily net assets of the shares as follows:

	Account
	Maintenance	Distribution
	Fee	Fee
Class A	.25%
Class B	.25%	.75%
Class C	.25%	.75%
Class R	.25%	.25%

Pursuant to a sub-agreement with the Distributor, Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Incorporated ("MLPF&S"), an affiliate of MLIM, also provides account maintenance and distribution services to the Fund. The ongoing account maintenance fee compensates the Distributor and MLPF&S for providing account maintenance services to Class A, Class B, Class C and Class R shareholders. The ongoing distribution fee compensates the Distributor and MLPF&S for providing shareholder and distribution-related services to Class B, Class C and Class R shareholders.

For the six months ended February 28, 2005, FAMD earned underwriting discounts and direct commissions and MLPF&S earned dealer concessions on sales of the Fund's Class A and Class I Shares as follows:

	FAMD	MLPF&S
Class A	$ 26,223	327,573
Class I	$ 219	2,895

For the six months ended February 28, 2005, MLPF&S received contingent deferred sales charges of $643,453 and $52,200 relating to transactions in Class B and Class C Shares, respectively. Furthermore, MLPF&S received contingent deferred sales charges of $268 relating to transactions subject to front-end sales charge waivers in Class A Shares.

The Fund has received an exemptive order from the Securities and Exchange Commission permitting it to lend portfolio securities to MLPF&S or its affiliates. As of February 28, 2005, the Fund lent securities with a value of $15,606,878 to MLPF&S or its affiliates. Pursuant to that order, the Fund also has retained Merrill Lynch Investment Managers, LLC ("MLIM, LLC"), an affiliate of MLIM, as the securities lending agent for a fee based on a share of the returns on investment of cash collateral. MLIM, LLC may, on behalf of the Fund, invest cash collateral received by the Fund for such loans, among other things, in a private investment company managed by MLIM, LLC or in registered money market funds advised by MLIM or its affiliates. For the six months ended February 28, 2005, MLIM, LLC received $109,707 in securities lending agent fees.
