COSL Announced Unaudited Operational Data for 1Q 2005

[April 28, 2005 – Hong Kong] China Oilfield Services Limited ("COSL" or the "Company"; stock code: 2883), the leading oilfield services provider in China offshore market, announced today its unaudited operational statistics for the first quarter ended March 31, 2005.

For the first quarter ended March 31, 2005, the total number of wells drilled increased by 52% to 73, of which 62 were development wells and 11 were exploration wells. The average utilization rate of the Company's rigs was 99.5%, a slight increase of 1.8% as compared with the same period last year. The number of development wells drilled soared by 77%. Due to the shorter drilling cycle of development wells, total operating days dropped by 93 days to 1,063 days despite the fact that the vessels underwent 192 days of maintenance.

The Company's well workover achieved an encouraging 54% growth over 2004. During the first quarter of 2005, the Company operated for 1,569 team/days. Moreover, the Company signed a new five-year integrated well workover services contract in Indonesia in the first quarter of 2005. This USD98.36 million contract will be effective from May 4, 2005.

During the period, operating datum for which the Company provided logging, drilling fluids, directional drilling, cementing and well completion services were 143, 79, 39, 61 and 248 respectively. Of these, logging and directional drilling activities decreased by 14% and 25% respectively. This is mainly attributable to the changes in operational practice of drilling activities, which changed the operations of the Company's logging and directional drilling activities. In spite of these changes, actual workload and revenue remained relatively the same as last year.

As for the marine support and transportation services front, the Company's marine support vessels operated for a total of 5,644 days, an increase of 501 days or 10% as compared with last year, and attained an average utilization rate of 97.6%, a slight decrease from 98.6% recorded last year. The decline in utilization rate was mainly due to the increase in operating days available as compared with the same period last year.

Regarding the geophysical services, the demand for the collection of 3D data grew in the China offshore market, and hence driving the growth of the processing of 3D data. Both the collection and processing of 3D seismic data recorded satisfactory growth of 102% and 84%, respectively. The Company's new integrated survey vessel was built and delivered in February.

Mr. Yuan Guangyu, CEO and President of COSL, said, "During the first quarter of 2005, everything has been rolled out as planned. We have full confidence in the full-year performance of COSL."
