The following disclosure supplements the disclosure in the "Special Features -- Exchange Privilege -- General" section of the prospectus for all funds:

Effective June 1, 1999, in addition to the current limits on exchanges of shares with a value over $1,000,000, shares of a Kemper Fund with a value of $1,000,000 or less (except Kemper Cash Reserves Fund) acquired by exchange from another Kemper Fund, or from a Money Market Fund, may not be exchanged thereafter until they have been owned for 15 days if, in the investment manager's judgement, the exchange activity may have an adverse effect on the fund. In particular, a pattern of exchanges that coincides with a "market timing" strategy may be disruptive to the Fund and therefore may be subject to the 15-Day Hold Policy.

March 29, 1999

For Kemper Income And Capital Preservation Fund, the following disclosure replaces the relevant paragraph in the "Principal strategies and investments" section on page 36 of the prospectus dated January 1, 1999:

While the fund has the ability to invest up to 20% of its assets in high yield securities, the fund normally invests predominantly in corporate debt securities which are rated in the four highest grades by a nationally recognized statistical rating service such as Standard and Poor's Corporation or Moody's Investors Service, Inc. and Mortgage Backed Securities.

For Kemper Income And Capital Preservation Fund, the following disclosure supplements the "Additional information about principal risks" section on page 36 of the prospectus dated January 1, 1999:

High Yield Fixed Income Securities. Investments in high yield fixed-income securities (often referred to as "junk bonds") are more likely to be affected by negative developments relating to their issuer or industry, and entail relatively greater risk of loss of income and principal than investments in higher rated securities. Market prices of high yield securities may fluctuate more than market prices of higher rated securities.
