NOTE 1 SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

A. Organization and Business Operations

Bellows Acquisition Corporation (a development stage company) ("the Company") was incorporated in Delaware on March 24, 1999 to serve as a vehicle to effect a merger, exchange of capital stock, asset acquisition or other business combination with a domestic or foreign private business. At June 30, 2001 the Company had not yet commenced any formal business operations, and all activity to date relates to the Company's formation. The Company's fiscal year end is December 31.

The Company's ability to commence operations is contingent upon its ability to enter into a business combination with a prospective target business. (See Note 5).

B. Use of Estimates

The preparation of the financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

C. Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, the Company considers all highly liquid investments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

D. Income Taxes

The Company accounts for income taxes under the Financial Accounting Standards Board of Financial Accounting Standards No. 109, "Accounting for Income Taxes" ("Statement 109"). Under Statement 109, deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax basis. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. Under Statement 109, the effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in income in the period that includes the enactment date. There were no current or deferred income tax expense or benefits due to the Company not having any material operations for the period ending June 30, 2001.

NOTE 2 STOCKHOLDER'S EQUITY

A. Preferred Stock

The Company is authorized to issue 20,000,000 shares of preferred stock at $.0001 par value, with such designations, voting and other rights and preferences as may be determined from time to time by the Board of Directors.

B. Common Stock

The Company is authorized to issue 100,000,000 shares of common stock at $.0001 par value. The Company issued 1,000,000 shares of its common stock to Pierce Mill Associates, Inc. pursuant to Section 4(2) of the Securities Act of 1933 for an aggregate consideration of $100.

C. Additional Paid-In Capital

Additional paid-in capital at June 30, 2001 represents the fair value of the amount of organization and professional costs incurred by related parties on behalf of the Company. (See Note 3)

NOTE 3 AGREEMENT

On April 1, 1999, the Company signed an agreement with Rock Creek Capital Corporation ("Rock Creek"), a related entity (See Note 4). The Agreement calls for Rock Creek to provide the following services, without reimbursement from the Company, until the Company enters into a business combination as described in Note 1A:

1. Preparation and filing of required documents with the Securities and Exchange Commission.
2. Location and review of potential target companies.
3. Payment of all corporate, organizational, and other costs incurred by the Company.

NOTE 4 RELATED PARTIES

Legal counsel to the Company is a firm owned by a director of the Company who also owns 100% of the outstanding stock of Pierce Mill Associates and Rock Creek. (See Note 3)

NOTE 5 POTENTIAL TARGET COMPANY

On January 29, 2001, TPG Capital Corporation (a company that is controlled by James M. Cassidy) entered into an agreement with Synergie Holdings, Inc. to assist it in becoming a public company and for other matters. Subsequently TPG Capital presented Synergie Holdings, Inc. to Bellows Acquisition Corporation as a potential target company for a business combination. As of the date of this report, TPG Capital Corporation has withdrawn its recommendation that the Company consider Synergie Holdings, Inc. as a candidate for a business combination.

ITEM 2. MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The Company will attempt to locate and negotiate with a business entity for the combination of that target company with the Company. The combination will normally take the form of a merger, stock-for-stock exchange or stock-for-assets exchange (the "business combination"). In most instances the target company will wish to structure the business combination to be within the definition of a tax-free reorganization under Section 351 or Section 368 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended. No assurances can be given that the Company will be successful in locating or negotiating with any target business.

The Company has not restricted its search for any specific kind of businesses, and it may acquire a business which is in its preliminary or development stage, which is already in operation, or in essentially any stage of its business life. It is impossible to predict the status of any business in which the Company may become engaged, in that such business may need to seek additional capital, may desire to have its shares publicly traded, or may seek other perceived advantages which the Company may offer.

In implementing a structure for a particular business acquisition, the Company may become a party to a merger, consolidation, reorganization, joint venture, or licensing agreement with another corporation or entity.

It is anticipated that any securities issued in any such business combination would be issued in reliance upon exemption from registration under applicable federal and state securities laws. In some circumstances, however, as a negotiated element of its transaction, the Company may agree to register all or a part of such securities immediately after the transaction is consummated or at specified times thereafter. If such registration occurs, it will be undertaken by the surviving entity after the Company has entered into an agreement for a business combination or has consummated a business combination. The issuance of additional securities and their potential sale into any trading market which may develop in the Company's securities may depress the market value of the Company's securities in the future if such a market develops, of which there is no assurance.

The Company will participate in a business combination only after the negotiation and execution of appropriate agreements. Negotiations with a target company will likely focus on the percentage of the Company which the target company shareholders would acquire in exchange for their shareholdings. Although the terms of such agreements cannot be predicted, generally such agreements will require certain representations and warranties of the parties thereto, will specify certain events of default, will detail the terms of closing and the conditions which must be satisfied by the parties prior to and after such closing and will include miscellaneous other terms. Any merger or acquisition effected by the Company can be expected to have a significant dilutive effect on the percentage of shares held by the Company's shareholders at such time.

The Company has entered into an agreement with Rock Creek Capital Corporation to supervise the search for target companies as potential candidates for a business combination. The agreement will continue until such time as the Company has effected a business combination. Rock Creek Capital Corporation has agreed to pay all expenses of the Company until such time as a business combination is effected, without repayment. James M. Cassidy, the sole officer and director of the Company, is the sole officer, director and beneficial shareholder of Rock Creek Capital Corporation.

The Company does not anticipate expending funds itself for locating a target company. James M. Cassidy, the officer and director of the Company, provides his services without charge or repayment. The Company will not borrow any funds to make any payments to the Company's management, its affiliates or associates. If Rock Creek Capital Corporation stops or becomes unable to continue to pay the Company's operating expenses, the Company may not be able to timely make its periodic reports required under the Exchange Act nor to continue to search for an acquisition target. In such event, the Company would seek alternative sources of funds or services, primarily through the issuance of its securities.

Rock Creek Capital Corporation may only locate potential target companies for the Company and is not authorized to enter into any agreement with a potential target company binding the Company. Rock Creek Capital Corporation may provide assistance to target companies incident to and following a business combination, and receive payment for such assistance from target companies. The agreement with Rock Creek Capital Corporation is not exclusive and the Company may enter into similar agreements with other persons or entities.

The Board of Directors has passed a resolution which contains a policy that the Company will not seek a business combination with any entity in which the Company's officer, director, shareholders or any affiliate or associate serves as an officer or director or holds any ownership interest.

On January 29, 2001, TPG Capital Corporation (a company that is controlled by James M. Cassidy) entered into an agreement with Synergie Holdings, Inc. to assist it in becoming a public company and for other matters. Subsequently TPG Capital presented Synergie Holdings, Inc. to Bellows Acquisition Corporation as a potential target company for a business combination. As of the date of this report, TPG Capital Corporation has withdrawn its recommendation that the Company consider Synergie Holdings, Inc. as a candidate for a business combination.

PART II -- OTHER INFORMATION

ITEM 1. LEGAL PROCEEDINGS

There are no legal proceedings against the Company and the Company is unaware of such proceedings contemplated against it.

On June 4, 2001, without admitting or denying any wrongdoing, James M. Cassidy, the sole director and executive officer of the Company, and TPG Capital Corporation, a corporation controlled by Mr. Cassidy, consented to the issuance of an order by the Securities and Exchange Commission to cease and desist from committing or causing any violation and any future violation of Section 10(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("1934 Act") and Rule 10b-5 thereunder and from causing any violation and future violation of Section 13(a) of the 1934 Act and Rules 13a-13 and 12b-20 thereunder in connection with arranging reverse mergers between reporting companies that they controlled and issuers facing possible delisting from the NASD Over-The-Counter Bulletin Board.

Specifically, the Securities and Exchange Commission said that Mr. Cassidy and TPG had filed amended registration statements for five reporting companies that wrongly stated that the companies were not engaged in negotiations with specific entities regarding a possible business combination. Three of these companies also filed periodic reports under the 1934 Act, which the Securities and Exchange Commission said wrongly stated that they were not engaged in merger negotiations. TPG Capital Corporation also agreed to consent, without admitting or denying any wrongdoing, to the payment of a civil penalty.
